The Fairfield Sports Page

Letter to the Community ...

In the spring of 2002, I came across a study commissioned by Michigan State University that stated that 73% of 7-year olds playing organized sports today will quit by the age of 14. This got my attention immediately because in the spring of 2002 my son was 7 years old and playing sports in Fairfield. Several reasons were cited in this study as to why so many kids are done with sports by the age of 14, but the two primary reasons were/are:

1. Burn-out
2. Parent's Behavior

Because of us, the parents, pushing too hard, over-committing our kids, playing year round, emphasizing winning the game instead of learning the game, our kids quit playing rather than being subjected to it anymore.

Obviously, I am not speaking specifically about anyone in Fairfield. However, I have been approached by several individuals (representing all the sports Fairfield offers) suggesting ways we can make our sports more competitive ... ways we can become more of a select league than a recreational league. My response is pretty consistent: "Not on my watch." Fairfield Sports was founded a few years ago by a group of us who saw a need and filled it. It was always the intent to run and maintain recreational leagues in each sport. We wanted a sports league that puts less emphasis on winning the game and more on teaching the fundamentals of the game; less emphasis on the final score and more on the little things that can make a kid better. We wanted a program not necessarily for the all-star caliber player, but for those that want to play and have fun.

There is a place for select sports (select soccer, select baseball, etc.); there are select leagues all over Houston. If my son wants to play select ball someday and is good enough to compete at that level, I hope he has an opportunity to do so. But it won't be in Fairfield! We are a recreational program and will remain so ... at least through my tenure.

It is only human nature to want to win. The competitive urges that are in all of us can often get the best of us. Ask anyone who has coached with me or against me and I am sure they will say I am as competitive as the next guy. But I would caution all of us (myself included) as our kids grow and move through the age groups of all the sports we offer, to keep the 2002 Michigan State study in mind.

Next Board Meeting: Monday, 9/26/05 at 6:45 PM, Lakeside Trails Clubhouse.

Thank you,

Bob McInnerney - Chairman, Fairfield Sports

Webelos Dragon Patrol, Pack 533

The boys of Webelos Dragon Patrol, Pack 533, out of Keith elementary were motivated to follow one of the Scouting principles by "doing a good turn". The Sweet Relief lemonade and snow cone stand was held Saturday, September 3rd, and raised $ 392.75 for the Salvation Army's Hurricane Katrina relief efforts.

The boys would like to thank the many patrons who purchased their cool summertime refreshments, and helped Dragon Patrol "do a good turn."

OCTOBER ACTIVITIES PLANS:

Thursday, October 13th: Our Potluck Night at the Lakeside Trails Club House it starts around 6:30pm. Make plans on being there early, for some mixing and fellowship. We have many staying and playing various games, while finishing up the deserts.

Tuesday, October 18th: Game Night at the Cook's starting at 6:30 pm. Directions are posted on the Activity Details page of our web site and in our October 16th weekly planner. This is a fun night with great fellowship. Just bring a little snack food.

There is plenty of room and we would like to see even more people come out for this enjoyable evening of dominos, Sequence, various card games and fellowship. Have a favorite card or board game, please bring it and teach the rest of us how to play; but be sure to get there.

For All Activities Other Than Trips: Call Mary Lou Cook for more details at 281-304-8359

Little Lambs News

Fall has arrived at Little Lambs. We have many exciting activities planned for this exciting time of the year. Our classes will be discovering and exploring all the things the season of fall brings. We have a Fall Festival planned at the end of the month. This festival every year is a big hit with our students! The pumpkin patch is also coming back to Good Shepherd. Our students will pick out a special pumpkin to take home and hear a special story time in the pumpkin patch.

We are having our second annual Little Lambs Olympics this year at Cypress Academy of Gymnastics. Our three, four and five year-old classes will have the opportunity to use all the equipment at their facility and receive a special gold medal at the end for all their hard work.

In September, our four year-old classes went on a fabulous field trip to EJ's Pizzeria and Baskin Robbins. Our students made their own pizza, got a "behind the scenes" tour of a restaurant and had ice cream for dessert. We would like to thank both EJ's Pizzeria and Baskin Robbins for everything they did. Our Bridge class went on a field trip to Nestle Tollhouse for a lesson in cookie making and decorating. They took their beautiful cookies home to share with their families. The children loved both field trips!

Message from the Superintendent

Cypress-Fairbanks Independent School District

September 13, 2005

Dear Key Communicator:

As you will recall, one of the issues that we monitored with the 79th Legislature was a mandatory school start date after Labor Day. This legislation did not pass during this past session; however, under current law, if a school district begins prior to the week in which August 21 falls, then a waiver must be submitted.

For the past several years, CFISD has sought a waiver to begin school earlier than mandated to allow students and instructional staff to maintain a full week off for the Thanksgiving holiday and complete the first semester by the winter break. The Board of Trustees of the Cypress-Fairbanks Independent School District is considering a waiver application with the Texas Education Agency (TEA) regarding the first day of instruction for the 2006-2007 school year. The Board may request that CFISD be permitted to begin the school year Wednesday, August 16, 2006.

A public forum has been scheduled for Tuesday, November 1, 2005, in the Board Room of the Instructional Support Center, 10300 Jones Road. Patrons will be able to offer comments regarding the school start date. The public forum begins at 7 p.m. and will continue no longer than two hours.

Sincerely,
David Anthony, Ed.D.

Texas Terrapins

The Texas Terrapins Swim Team has successfully begun a new short course season with over 100 swimmers signed up! All ages and abilities are welcome to join. We offer a two week free trial any time of year if you are unsure. Anyone wishing to do a two week trial should come to practice with a medical form filled out (print it off our website www.texasterrapins.com). Practice times and groups are listed on our website and you can call or email the coach anytime.

The month of October will be a busy one for us. We have two open meets, one A & up meet, one BB & under meet and one Senior meet this month. We also have our annual swim-a-thon on October 6th. The swim-a-thon benefits our team as well as USA Swimming. The monies earned during this can be used for future purchases that our team will need to make for the growth of our team. Along with lots of laps that night, we'll have music, food and lots of fun! If you haven't been approached by a Terrapin and would like to make a donation, please stop by the pool that night to join in on our fun or call or email Coach Barbara @ 713-725-6190/swimbarb@igg.net.

Harvest Bible Church

Did You Know? We live in a day where being tolerant is the only thing that is tolerated. Those who believe in absolute truth, who say that faith in Jesus Christ is the ONLY way of salvation, are shunned as hateful and intolerant. So are there really moral absolutes? Our post-modern society says "no," but the Bible says "yes" – absolutely yes!

Here's a few statements made by the biblical writers: Moses... It shall come about that if you do not obey the Lord your God, to observe all of His commandments that these curses will come upon you... (Deut. 28:15).

John the Baptist: [who condemned Herod for his adulteries], It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife! (Mark 6:18). Jesus... I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me (John 14:6). [Speaking to his detractors] Woe to you hypocrites... you blind guides... you brood of vipers, how will you escape the sentence of hell? (Matt. 23:13-33).

Stephen: You stubborn people with uncircumcised hearts and ears, for you are always resisting the Holy Spirit! (Acts 7:51). Paul: You who are full of all deceit... you son of the devil, you enemy of all righteousness... the hand of the Lord is against you... (Acts 13:9-11).

Peter: There is salvation in no one else except Jesus Christ; for there is no other name under heaven that has been given among men by which we must be saved (Acts 4:12). James: You adulteresses! Do you not know that friendship with the world is hostility toward God? (James 4:4).

John the apostle: By this the children of God and the children of the devil are obvious: anyone who does not practice righteousness is not of God, nor the one who does not love his brother (1 John 3:10).

Now pastors are commanded to parrot the words of Scripture, for 2 Timothy 4:2 says, Preach the word! Do it in season and out of season.

Correct, rebuke, and exhort with great patience and careful teaching. Pastors are required to do the same thing as the prophets of old, namely to say, "Thus says the Lord!" Those who fail to do so fail at being pastors. The idea that pastors are supposed to primarily care for the sick, smile big, and visit people in the hospital is foreign to the Scriptures. They are to care for the spiritual needs of people not the physical.

Now by simple virtue of speaking the truth in any society persecution will follow. A simple quotation from the Bible tends to offend. Why? Because it is filled with absolute statements, and absolutism does not fit in a post-modern society. Those who speak the words of Jesus will be persecuted because his words are ostensibly full of hate, absolutes, and judgment.

Actually, the seemingly hateful words in the Bible, and those bold enough to preach them, are actually words full of love. The words of God are meant to correct the sin of mankind whose freewill is bent toward sin. But God loves us enough to offer us His words, and pastors who preach them love people enough to teach them about what God has said. Ironically, those who view God's words as hateful, and his servants who speak those words as such, are in fact the intolerant ones. For they refuse to tolerate a God who is holy and loving – loving enough to correct His created beings whom He loved enough to die for.

At Harvest Bible Church we study and teach the Bible to know Christ more deeply and to be able to discern false teachings and worldviews. If you'd like more info about HBC call our church office (304-1441) or consult our website: www.harvestbiblechurch.net

Fountain of Life Fellowship Non Denominational – Spirit Filled Church

Tragedy brings out the best and the worst in men, as we have seen through the aftermath of hurricane Katrina.

First, we watched in disbelief, the hopeless devastation of those who, in an instant lost all their worldly possessions. We anguished with those who stood crying and weeping as they watched life as they knew it, be ripped away.

Then, we witnessed the worst in men as newscasters, celebrities, and politicians alike began the blame game. As I stated in last issue, sadly, blaming is done to denigrate another human and is done by a person who can only feel good about themselves by putting others down.

Finally, we have witnessed and continue to witness the good in men through the tremendous outpouring of generosity by the Houston community in providing housing, clothing, food, monies prayer and counseling. These Angels of Mercy are defining themselves by the measure of the One who gave us limitless opportunities and boundless love. We can be all we truly want to be in Christ as we satisfy God's direction, to edify one another. Or, as our mother's have taught us, "If you don't have something nice to say, don't say anything at all." Join us as we learn together how to walk in the freedom that Christ brings, building each other up, not putting each other down.

At Fountain of Life Fellowship, we seek to be the hands and feet of God and do this through ministry – "The Heart of Worship." We have small "cell" groups that meet in the homes of cell group leaders to fellowship, sing, study the Bible and to minister to one another's individual needs. Our cell groups meet on Tuesday and Wednesday nights at 7:00 p.m. and a nursery is provided for the Wednesday night groups. We invite you to grow with us, in relationship with God and the body of Christ. For meeting location call our church office at (281) 373-9337.

LADIES BIBLE STUDY: We are continuing our Bible Encounter Study for Ladies on Thursday mornings at 10:00 a.m. Call (281) 373-9337 for location and directions.

Are you tired of the gory, frightful, grim reaper type of Halloween? Do you want to put the fun and laughter back into the Halloween event? Then, have we got a Hallelujah party for you. Join us on October 31st at 15010 Mueschke Road, beginning at 6:30 p.m. We will have lots of fun, games and of course treats. Parents you are invited to participate in the festivities as well. Costumes should be, Biblical characters, or non-violent real or fictional characters or persons. Call us at (281) 373-9337 to let us know you are coming. We look forward to sharing a fun filled evening together.

Fountain of Life Fellowship is non-denominational, spirit-filled church. We're located at 10510 Mueschke Road, just one mile north of Hwy 290. Our Sunday morning service begins at 10:45 a.m. We offer children's church, toddlers Sunday School, and a nursery during this service.

Fairfield Church of Christ (Mason Road and Chappell Knoll)

"Discovering the Heart of Christ, in the Heart of Fairfield."

Protecting Our Children. Twenty-one years ago John Walsh began telling the story of his son Adam's abduction and murder. John has devoted himself to a single mission. "I guess I've become something of an expert on fighting crime. But back when my six-year-old son, Adam, was kidnapped from a south Florida shopping mall and murdered, I was just a typical suburban dad. My child at risk? The thought never occurred to me. I lived in a nice neighborhood, safe from violence and the kind of predator that comes after innocent kids. I know better now. And that's why I'm here now to give you some tips on how you can best protect your children, whether they're toddlers or teenagers. 1) Never leave your child alone in a public place. Not for a minute. 2) Teach your children to protect themselves. There are some basic safety rules all kids should live by. Teenagers too. Rule #1: Before your child goes anywhere with or gets into a car with any person, before he/she accepts anything from anyone, she should always ask you for your okay. Rule #2: Don't go out alone. There is safety in numbers. Rule #3: It's okay to say no. It's much more important to be safe than to be polite. 3) Know where your kids are and who they're with at all times. 4) Keep an eye online. Monitor what your kids are doing in cyberspace. 5) Values protect. A child with a clear sense of right and wrong will be better equipped to avoid questionable people and situations later in life. And a child who knows that he is loved will likely take better care of himself when you can't. Above all, protecting our children begins with open and honest communication at home. Face it, your kids have to feel comfortable telling you anything, no matter how frightening or confusing to them, or they won't open up. They need to know they can count on you to help them without judging or criticizing. Kids who know they're valued and listened to may be the best protected children of all." By John Walsh, Host, America's Most Wanted.

May we all be continually watching out for our children and praying for their safety each day. We hope you are having a great beginning to the school year. Hurricane Katrina has certainly brought to all of us a greater sense of what is really important in life. At Fairfield Church of Christ we are continuing our relief efforts and if you know of someone in need please let us know.

I want to personally invite you and your family to take a little time out this Sunday and come to church and together share in a life changing experience with the eternal God.

We have many wonderful things going on at Fairfield church. On Monday, October 31, at 6:00pm we will be having our annual, free, community "Fall Festival." There is no charge and no collections or donations will be required. We will have games, prizes, food and the Cy-Fair Volunteer Fire Department will be here with one of their fire trucks. Last year hundreds enjoyed the festival so bring your family and come enjoy the fun.

Our weekly and continuing events and activities are as follows:

On Sunday mornings; Bible Classes for babies to adults begins at 9:30am. Each bible class is taught by loving, well prepared, Christians utilizing the latest in educational techniques and finest bible curriculums.

Worship is at 10:30am and each service is carefully thought out and planned by our worship ministry leaders. Every service is meant to bring glory to the name of Jesus and help each person realize how wonderful it is when you fall in love with Jesus as your savior.

At 5:00pm on Sunday evenings we spend time in prayer, praise, and casual conversation about God's word and how it applies to our daily lives.

Each Tuesday is a special "Ladies' Brown Bag Lunch and Prayer." Ladies come together at 12 noon and spend time eating and fellowshiping and then a time of prayer. Everyone in the community is invited to come.

Mid-week Bible studies are also offered every Wednesday at 7:30pm. This is a great time to pause in the middle of a busy week and be re-energized by fellowship, prayer, and study of God's word.

We also offer free of charge in-home, personal, one-on-one Bible studies and for those who wish to study alone, Bible correspondence lessons as well.

Life is full of compromises.
You shouldn't have to live in one.

"If I just have the salad I can order the cheesecake." Trade-offs. We face them every day. Sometimes it works out for the best. Sometimes you're left wishing you'd ordered the filet mignon. Small mistakes are easy to overcome. It's the big ones we have to live with—or live in. Don't compromise when it comes to your home. You deserve a Weekley in Fairfield

Teens Seeking “Magazine Figure” Perfection Risk Problems

Baylor College of Medicine

Glossy pages of magazines are filled with stunning celebrities and rail-thin models—leading more teens to experience eating disorders and distorted body images.

“Surprisingly, men are becoming increasingly preoccupied with their body image,” said Dr. John Sargent, professor of psychiatry and pediatrics at Baylor College of Medicine and director of child and adolescent psychiatry at Ben Taub General Hospital. “Teens who are extremely preoccupied with their looks may do excessive amounts of exercise or are extreme dieters, and these are major concerns.”

Some thin women distort reality by seeing themselves as fat. This type of distortion is rampant and explains why so many women are susceptible to eating disorders, where the pursuit of thinness is driven by faulty perceptions rather than reality, Sargent said.

“How teens perceive themselves when they look in the mirror can have more of an effect on their risk for depression and suicide than the actual numbers on the bathroom scale,” he said. “The media makes teens feel like there’s a certain way that they are supposed to look and usually that’s a degree of physical perfection that very few people actually achieve. Parents need to look for warning signs. They can’t expect their teenager to come forth and admit that they have a problem.”

The characteristics of anorexia nervosa and bulimia nervosa have much in common. The teen will often decide to go on a diet, although to everyone else they may not appear to be overweight. They become preoccupied with food, nutrition and calories, sensitive about eating or prefer to eat alone rather than with the family. They may also exercise obsessively, have difficulty sleeping, seem socially withdrawn from friends and appear afraid of gaining weight. At this point, the teen is in trouble and may need professional help. Weight loss or purging may also be presenting physical risks.

How do you get past the images you see in the mirror?

- Focus on the qualities in yourself that you like that are not related to appearance.
- Pick friends who are not overly concerned with weight or appearance.
- Exercise for strength, fitness, and health, not just weight control.
- If you can’t get over your bad body image, consider seeking professional help from a psychiatrist.
- Learn to accept how you look and build on the physical, intellectual and social skills and abilities that you have.

“A healthy desire to keep your body well and fit can be taken to an extreme and become unhealthy, and that’s what we need to guard against,” Sargent said.

BUILDING FAITH

GROWING FAMILY

Fit Facts™

FROM THE AMERICAN COUNCIL ON EXERCISE®

Teens, Fitness and You

With all the pressures today's teenagers have to deal with, it's no wonder so many are in trouble.

Statistics show that teen suicide and teen pregnancy are on the rise, as is the firearm-homicide rate for teens. Smoking among teens is in vogue, and two-thirds of eighth-graders report that they have tried alcohol. And only about 38 percent of them get enough exercise - which means the other 62 percent are setting themselves up for a sedentary life and all the problems that come with it.

Now's the time to change these statistics. Research has shown that kids who play sports, or who are physically active, are less likely to have these problems. But getting kids to exercise is no easy task unless you're willing to spend time with them and learn to speak their language.

Quality time, quality talk

It's impossible to have good relationships with teenagers if you don't spend time with them. Don't expect teens to automatically think you're cool and trustworthy - you'll have to prove it.

Accept them for who they are and show them that you are genuinely concerned about them. Look past the way they dress or wear their hair, and learn to understand their language so you can relate to what they have to say.

A person who is a good listener has a good chance of developing relationships with teens, since most of them would rather talk than listen. Whatever it takes, learn to listen to teenagers, and offer your words of wisdom only when necessary. It's the only way to figure them out.

They're listening - What do you say?

The number-one thing you can do to help teens get active is to be a good role model. Live the life that you advocate; show them that being active can be fun, and they will follow your example. Let them know that being physically active does not necessarily mean going to exercise classes or playing sports, although these are two great options.

Hiking and camping, body surfing and playing Frisbee or paddleball are activities the whole family can enjoy. And, since they're having so much fun, teens will hardly realize that what they're doing is actually good for them.

Teenagers can participate in just about any fitness activity, whether it be weight training, mountain biking or martial arts. Many gyms are lowering their age requirements and offering family memberships and discounts to reach the younger market. Organized sports also are an excellent means of improving socialization and developing discipline and teamwork skills.

Competing with the negative

It's not easy to get your message of good health and fitness across when you're competing with the lure of television and video games. That's why it's so important to appeal to a teenager's sense of fun and need for social interaction.

Whenever possible, include others, such as their friends, in your fitness activities. Encouraging a teenager (or an adult, for that matter) to become more active can be discouraging, particularly when they seem to be tuning you out.

At some point, that encouragement may become counter-productive. Instead, continue to serve as a role model for an active lifestyle and perhaps they will one day follow your lead.

The most important thing you can do for today's youth is to help them value their lives. Being healthy and fit will put them in touch with their bodies, increase their self-esteem and help them to establish a desire to set personal goals.

Bottom line, however, is that in order to get anyone to exercise, teenager or not, it has to be fun. Teenagers aren't likely to do something just because they're told it's good for them. But with your support and encouragement, you can help put them on the path to better health that lasts a lifetime.

Mosquitoes: More Than a Nuisance

(NAPSA)-As the cold weather slowly escapes, we find ourselves looking for more reasons to bask and play outdoors. But be advised: spending time outdoors may come with mosquito-related risks. Mosquitoes inevitably accompany warm weather and are much more than just a nuisance during outings and picnics. Though typically feared for the dangers they pose internationally where they carry and transmit the infectious agents that cause malaria, lymphatic filariasis, yellow fever and dengue fever, mosquitoes should not be taken for granted in North America. Approximately 200 of the more than 3,000 mosquito species worldwide are found in North America, and some are capable of transmitting a number of viruses causing encephalitis (swelling of the brain), including West Nile virus. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, more than 16,000 people in the United States have become ill with West Nile virus since it was first identified in New York in 1999. Serious symptoms resulting from West Nile virus can include high fever, headache, neck stiffness, disorientation, convulsions, muscle weakness, vision loss, numbness or paralysis, and the disease can even be fatal. "Mosquitoes only need a small amount of water with nutrients to breed and survive, making them very hard to control," says Frank Meek, Technical Director for Orkin, Inc. "It is important to take prevention measures seriously to reduce populations and the accompanying risk of diseases."

Most cases of mosquito-related disease show up in late summer or early fall when populations are largely prevalent. Fortunately, a few preventative measures will allow you and your family to continue to enjoy the pleasures of the changing weather:

- When outdoors, spray an EPA-approved insect repellent on exposed skin and over clothing.
 - During prime mosquito biting hours of dusk to dawn, wear long sleeves and pants in addition to repellent, or consider staying indoors.
 - Make sure screens on windows and doors fit tightly and have no holes.
 - Eliminate breeding sites by emptying standing water from objects around the home, including flower pots, buckets, tire swings and children's wading pools when not in use. Change the water in pet dishes and replace the water in bird baths weekly.
- In addition to these preventative measures, professional help is also available.
