Yard of the Month October 2005

Michael and Carolyn Cartafalsa 8626 Giddings Lane

Michael and Carolyn Cartafalsa have lived at 8626 Giddings Lane since October 1994. They are a retired couple with three grown children and three grandchildren. Carolyn is a native of Navasota, TX where she is still active in the Daughters of the Republic of Texas. Mike is a former native of Philadelphia, PA and a member of the USAF for four years during the Korean War. He currently serves as the President of Bryan AFB Veterans of the Korean War.

During the hot month of September, their front yard irrigation system kept their grass looking green with a variety of hot weather flowers adding color to their yard. In the springtime, they have a variety of colorful day lilies and amaryllis blooming. In the summer, they have crepe myrtles, althea, oleander, ixora, asters, dianthas, purple & white iris in bloom. In the fall, the dianthas, esperanza and Indian hawthorne are in bloom.

"The Best Christmas Pageant Ever"

The community is invited to Messiah Lutheran Church's presentation of "The Best Christmas Pageant Ever" on Sunday, December 4. There will be two showings, 4 PM and 6 PM. In this hilarious tale, a couple struggling to produce a church Christmas pageant is faced with casting the Herdman children, "The worst children in the whole history of the world!" You are invited to come along for the chaos and the fun. And look for a miracle as the Herdmans collide head-on with the Christmas story and help everyone else rediscover its true meaning. Admission is free, but reservations are suggested in order to accommodate the crowd. Please call 281-890-3013.

Messiah Lutheran Church is a grace place, a congregation of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA). Messiah is located at 11522 Telge Road, ½ mile north of Highway 290. Regular worship times are 6 PM on Saturday evenings (a casual service of song and sacrament), and traditional worship at 8 and 10:30 AM on Sundays. The Education Hour is 9:15-10:15 AM on Sundays. For more information, 281-890-3013 or www.messiahlc.org. All people are welcome at Messiah.

Dental Hygiene

Common oral hygiene problems:

A healthy smile not only looks good, it has a positive effect on the health of your entire body. Poor oral hygiene has been linked to a higher risk of certain diseases, and it can adversely affect the health of both adults and children. So what are some common problems with oral hygiene?

Not brushing and flossing:

Brushing and flossing is your first line of defense against tooth decay and gum disease. Ensure that you brush properly at least twice a day, and don't forget to floss at least once a day. Flossing removes food and bacteria from between teeth where a toothbrush can't reach.

Eating too many sugary snacks:

Eating a lot of sugary foods and carbohydrates allows the bacteria in plaque to thrive. It uses the sugars in your food as fuel, producing acids that dissolve the hard enamel that covers your teeth. This is how cavities get started. The less sugar you eat, the less damage these bacteria can do. When you do eat sweets, it helps to brush your teeth with fluoride toothpaste afterward. And keep in mind that a balanced, nutritious diet is important for your oral health, as well as the rest of your body.

Missing too many dental checkups:

It is important to get your teeth cleaned and checked on a regular basis, preferably every six months. If you don't remove all of the plaque from your teeth every day, it hardens and becomes tartar. You can't remove tartar with a toothbrush. It must be removed professionally.

Brushing improperly:

Many people brush their teeth too hard. This is not only ineffective because it can expose the root surfaces and cause sensitive teeth. When you brush your teeth, ensure that you do it gently, using a soft toothbrush in a regular, circular pattern. Use a pea-sized amount of toothpaste that contains fluoride and brush along the gum line at a 45-degree angle. Vibrate the brush while you move it in short, wiggling motions and in small circular strokes. Brush two or three teeth at a time. Then move to the next teeth, allowing some overlap. Tilt the brush and use the tip to brush the backs of the front teeth. End by gently brushing your tongue and the roof of your mouth. This removes germs and keeps your breath fresh.

Is electric better?

If you're not using an electric toothbrush, maybe you should consider it. Recent studies have shown that powered toothbrushes with circular bristle heads that rotate in alternating directions are better than ordinary toothbrushes at removing plaque and reducing the risk of gum disease. After more than three months' use, the powered brushes reduced gingivitis by 17 percent more than regular brushes. In many cases, the powered brushes are also easier to use than manual brushes, and some have timers that can help you remember to brush long enough.

Even if you don't have a powered toothbrush, you can clean your teeth effectively with a manual brush. Simply brush twice a day, following the guidelines we've provided, and you can maintain your smile for many years to come. (And don't forget to floss!)

Fit Facts™

FROM THE AMERICAN COUNCIL ON EXERCISE®

Exercising In The Cold

The biggest concern for exercising in the cold is hypothermia, or too much heat loss. When you exercise in a cold environment you must consider one primary factor: how much heat will your body lose during exercise?

Heat loss is controlled in two ways:

1. Insulation, consisting of body fat plus clothing.
2. Environmental factors, including temperature, wind and whether you're exercising in the air or in the water. Each of these factors plays a role in the body's ability to maintain a comfortable temperature during exercise.

Insulation

Although many people aspire to have a lean figure, people with a little more body fat are better insulated and will lose less heat. Clothing adds to the insulation barrier and is clearly the most important element in performance and comfort while exercising in the cold. One study showed that heat loss from the head alone was about 50 percent at the freezing mark, and by simply wearing a helmet, subjects were able to stay outside indefinitely. Clothing is generally a good insulator because it has the ability to trap air, a poor conductor of heat. If the air trapped by the clothing cannot conduct the heat away from the body, temperature will be maintained. Unlike air, however, water is a rapid conductor of heat and even in the coldest of temperatures, people will sweat and risk significant heat loss. With this in mind, you want to choose clothing that can trap air but allow sweat to pass through, away from the body.

By wearing clothing in layers, you have the ability to change the amount of insulation that is needed while many new products can provide such a layered barrier, it is important to avoid heavy cotton sweats or tightly woven material that will absorb and retain water. Because these materials cannot provide a layer of dry air near the skin, they can increase the amount of heat your body loses as you exercise.

Keeping the hands and feet warm is a common concern when exercising in the cold. Lower temperatures cause blood to be shunted away from the hands and feet to the center of the body to keep the internal organs warm and protected. Superficial warming of the hands will return blood flow to prevent tissue damage. Blood flow will not return to the feet unless the temperature of the torso is normal or slightly higher (.5-1.0 degree Fahrenheit (F) above normal). So, to keep your feet warm you must also keep the rest of your body warm at all times.

Check with the weatherman

Always check the air temperature and wind chill factor before exercising in the cold. Data from the National Safety Council suggest little danger to individuals with properly clothed skin exposed at 20° F, even with a 30 mph wind. A danger does exist for individuals with exposed skin when the wind chill factor (combined effect of temperature and wind) falls below minus 20° F.

That can be achieved by any combination of temperatures below 20° F with a wind of 40 mph and temperatures below minus 20° F with no wind. If you are exercising near the danger zone for skin exposure, it also is advisable to warm the air being inhaled by wearing a scarf or mask over your nose and mouth to warm the air being inhaled.

Rules for exercising in the cold

- Check the temperature and wind conditions before you go out and do not exercise if conditions are dangerous.
- Keep your head, hands and feet warm.
- Dress in layers that can provide a trapped layer of dry air near the skin (avoid cotton sweats and other similar materials).
- Warm the air you are breathing if temperatures are below your comfort level (usually around 0° F).
