

THE TIMES

Cy-Fair High School PROJECT PROM 2009

Our wonderful volunteer parents have been very busy planning and fundraising for Project Prom 2009. The event will be held at Sam Houston Race Park from 11pm to 6 am May 1-2, with a graduating class of nearly over 650 students, we have a sizeable goal to reach in order to provide an exciting evening for the seniors and their dates. Your volunteer hours and money donated during the entire school year earn your senior valuable Project Prom $$Bucks to enter to win raffle prizes.

Even if you don't have a senior, or any school age children, you can still participate by making donations of cash, items, or services, or by purchasing items that interest you through our booster club, and you can designate a senior whom you know to receive credit. We are a 501(c)(3) organization, and donations are tax deductible as allowed by law.

General membership meetings: Please plan to attend our next meeting on Monday, November 17, in CFHS cafeteria at 7:00 p.m.

Riverboat Casino Night: Sunday, November 9, 5 to 9 p.m., Parkway Chevrolet. Tickets are $25 each and include dinner, auction, prizes, and charity gambling. Businesses and individuals are invited to sponsor tables and donate items and services for the auction. Contact: Robert Thornton at 281-807-1816, RThorntontx@gmail.com, or Kay McGlamory, 281-955-2107, KMcGlamory@indpbanktx.com.

Golf Tournament. Monday, December 8, 8:30 a.m., Houston National Golf Club. $110 per golfer includes prizes and auction and FUN! Sign-up form online. Contact: Brett Bidinger, 281-304-8888, Brett@BidingerDesign.com.

Cartridges and More Recycling. We are collecting laser, fax, copier, and inkjet printer cartridges, as well as used cell phones, laptops, PDAs, and iPods. Items are remanufactured, refurbished or recycled. Bring your items to the Cy-Fair High School library. See the Cartridges for Kids (CFK) website, www.cartridgesforkids.com, for the list of items accepted. Through CFK, we will be offering Clubco starting in October, an online membership club that allows you to make purchases from many name brands with 5% of the purchases going toward Project Prom. The sign-up form will be available at general membership meetings.

The Busy Parent Fundraiser form on our website at www.cyfairprojectprom.com provides an easy way to contribute. Other efforts include Randall's grocery store card donations, Market Day orders, a collection of formal dresses for girls in need, and "Casseroles-To-Go!", Denim and Diamonds Dinner and Dancing, Lollipop Sales during lunch hour in our cafeteria, Spring Mulch Sales and several opportunities for vendors to sell their products and services at our meetings. Creating Strong Vibrant Communities

It's a fact of our global economy that consumers are drawn to the Internet because of convenience. But as residents of NW Houston and in the wake of Ike, we may need to remind ourselves why it is important to "Think Local Business First."

1. Local businesses are often collectively our largest local employer. The largest growth of jobs is from small business owners.
2. When one dollar is spent at a local business, economists indicate it is circulated four to seven additional times in the local economy.
3. Every dollar spent locally generates up to 75% more tax revenue to our community and State.
4. Local businesses are often the largest financial supporters of neighborhood school programs, local charities and youth sports activities.
5. Strong local business helps maintain property values and contribute to the character of our community by offering a diverse selection of goods and services.
6. Local business is most often the first job for our children but also is the first introduction into the "real world" of economics. Many of us in NW Houston have had a small business owner in their family at one time or another.
7. Small business often innovates quicker and thus grows faster and can have a greater impact on our community.

Brandon Vick Memorial Run-4-Fun to be held on Nov. 7, 2008

The Brandon Vick Memorial Fun-4-Fun will be held on November 7 at Cypress Christian School. This event is dedicated in loving memory of Brandon Vick who passed away suddenly in the summer of 2003. Brandon would have been a senior this year.

"Brandon's education at Cypress Christian School began in 1998. Brandon loved the Lord, loved his family, loved his school, and loved his friends. Whatever Brandon did, he did with all his heart, as was the case with the Run-4-Fun, year after year," said Brandon's parents, Dale and Celeste Vick.

"At the end of his 6th grade year, Brandon came home with a heavy heart and asked our family to pray for his friend who might not be able to attend school the following year due to financial reasons. Brandon was a very compassionate person. In keeping with his prayer, a fund was initially set up to assist with tuition needs in these situations."

Cypress Christian School continues to keep Brandon's memory alive through the Brandon Vick Memorial Run-4-Fun. Proceeds from this event have blessed the elementary school with items from their "wish list." In addition, 10% goes towards tuition assistance for elementary students in need.

Proceeds from Run-4-Fun have provided the following items over the years:

- Elementary Computer Lab
- Library Enhancements
- Music Department Enhancements
- Art Department Enhancements
- Playground Equipment
- Technology upgrades
- New Televisions and Stand for the Classroom
- Cable and Wiring for the Classrooms
- Playground Enhancements/ Playground Shade Structure
- Projectors for the Classrooms
- Laminating Machine
- Die Cut Machine and Various Stamps
- Elementary Performances and Competitions
- Teacher Classroom Supply Vouchers
- Map Rails
- Artwork Display Strips for Hallways

For more information on this event or how you can contribute to this fund, contact Jody Pollos at 281-770-5326 or Jody.Pollos@CypressChristian.org. Donations can be made on-line via the school's website at www.CypressChristian.org under the "Support CCS" tab "On-line donations."

Protecting Your Children on the Internet

Submitted by Laurie Scott

Just as we try to protect our children from bullies and predators on the streets, as parents we need to be doing the same when it comes to the Internet. Before the internet much of our socialization was done on the telephone. We would talk on and on while our parents were telling us to get off the phone. But with the advent of the Internet has come online chat as well as popular social networking sites such as MySpace and FaceBook, which have provided a totally new way for kids to socialize but at the same time exposed them to a new world of dangers. There is no need however to panic, as there are steps you can take to greatly reduce any risks.

First, talk to your kids. There is no software or hardware that will better protect your children than you. Keep computers out of children's bedrooms and in a public area of the home. Kids should not be talking to people online that they don't know in person. They should enhancing existing relationships, not creating new ones online. Never should your child give out personal information such as a phone number, address, birthday, school, etc.

Netsmartz.org is a fabulous site run by the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children; they have lots of material for both parents and kids from K – High School. An excellent tool is their "Internet Safety Pledge" that you and your child can read together and sign as an agreement between you. For younger kids there are kid-safe web browsers such as "MyKidsBrowser" and "Kidzui". There are tools such as NetNanny and CyberSitter that can be installed on a computer to limit what programs can be run and what sites can be visited (be advised that clever teens seem to figure ways around them). OpenDNS is a free service that you can use to transparently control access for all computers in your home (though it does require a little technical knowledge to fully implement).

You tell your children not to talk to strangers and never get into a car with a stranger, using the same caution regarding strangers on the internet is a great first step in allowing your kids to enjoy the richness the Internet has to offer while minimizing the risks.

The Green Corner Green the Holidays

By: Sheri Hicks

Thanksgiving will be here in a few weeks and following hard on its heels is the mecca of consumption – Christmas. I have a few tips that can help you feel easier about your carbon footprint during the holidays. This month I will focus on holiday food and Thanksgiving. In December, I will give you tips and ideas on how to green up your gift giving and holiday decorating.

The Thanksgiving Table: Before you shop, think sustainability. Both Whole Foods and Central Market sell organically grown, free range turkeys. Untreated with hormones, antibiotics and fed on whole grain feed, these turkeys can be purchased whole or partial (I buy a breast for my small family) for a meal designed specifically for your family. Add organically grown vegetables, and if possible heirloom varieties to increase nutritional value and green quotient.

I know, positively everyone says to go organic. But they rarely tell you why it is important. It isn't just that it is cool or fashionable to be organic (although it is chic to be green) but that organic food is grown and/or raised with sustainability in mind, something that is not taken into account by conventional farming methods. Every time we do something against nature, there is a ripple effect that is felt much farther than our back yard but ultimately comes back to bite us.

Conventionally raised turkeys (and any poultry, beef and most farmed fish) are kept in tight quarters, fed a diet of grains and discarded animal products – usually from animals too sick to be used in human consumption- and fattened until slaughtered. The cramped quarters, lack of exercise, and poor quality food create a breeding ground for disease requiring the animals to be treated with prophylactic antibiotics. Hormones are used to increase the growth and yield of the meat. How is this unsustainable and downright harmful to us though? Over use of antibiotics have led to antibiotic resistant diseases like MRSA, a particularly nasty and deadly antibiotic resistant staph bacterium, and hormones are absorbed into the meat and ingested by humans or find themselves in our drinking water, creating all sorts of havoc in our bodies from suspected early onset puberty in girls to hormone induced cancers such as estrogen or progesterone positive breast cancer. If all this isn't enough, the runoff from poultry farms is toxic and pollutes water ways destroying entire ecosystems and tainting drinking water with poisons, antibiotics, fecal matter and hormones.

Organic vegetables prohibit the use of synthetic fertilizers and pesticides. These products are known to cause cancer and neurological disorders in both humans and lab animals. Many vegetables carry toxic residue to your table and into your body. The toxic runoff from conventional farms pollute rivers, drinking water and create dangerous dead zones in the ocean where high levels of nitrogen kill beneficial algae and bacteria causing dangerous algae blooms like red tide that deplete oxygen levels and kill fish. Our own Gulf of Mexico suffers from a dead zone from the base of the Mississippi river all the way to Galveston that is approximately the size of Rhode Island. Dead zones disrupt oceanic hunting and feeding grounds bringing fish closer to shore which in turn brings ocean predators, such as sharks, closer to shore endangering ocean swimmers (not to mention makes the water just plain nasty).

Heirloom vegetables are great because not only are they fun (purple tomatoes anyone?) but they promote biodiversity which protects our food sources. Did you know the Irish Potato Famine occurred because the Irish relied on only a few species of potato plant as the basis of their food supply? All of which was susceptible to the fungus that attacked the plant and destroyed the food crop. The United States and modern conventional farming has gone the way of Ireland, relying on fewer and fewer species of plants planted in large monocultures to create the basis of our market vegetable selections and eliminating approximately 90% of plant genetic material that was available in 1900. Like Ireland, a simple disease could wipe out a large portion of our food supply and leave us on the brink of starvation. Heirloom vegetables keep genetic plant material alive and in the food source.

I know that organics are initially more expensive. But remember, with conventional products we have to pay to clean up the water to make it safe and drinkable again, to clean up the ocean for access to safe fish, to provide more and more research on how to keep our few remaining plant species from succumbing to disease and pests, medical bills when our bodies react to the environmental toxins, and disaster relief when gigantic storms caused from environmental disruption destroy communities. In the long run, organics are the cheaper way to go.

Avoid the consumption trap by avoiding Black Friday. Instead of shopping use it to decorate for Christmas. Thanksgiving leftovers make a nice picnic!

Saving For College: The 529 Plan

By Rich Keith

The 529 Plan is named after the section of the federal tax code that governs them. These plans are tax-advantaged programs that help families save for college. Selecting a plan requires homework. Every state offers at least one 529 plan and now a consortium of private colleges also offers a 529 plan. The tax advantages, investment options, restrictions and fees can vary a great deal.

There are two types of 529 plans—prepaid tuition plans and college savings plans. Every state offers at least one of these types of plans. Some states offer both, and now a consortium of private colleges also offers a prepaid tuition plan.

Prepaid tuition plans allow parents, grandparents and others to prepay tuition at today's tuition rates at eligible public and private colleges or universities so that they don't have to worry about future tuition increases.

Contribution limits: You pay for amounts of tuition (years, credits or units) in one lump sum or through installment payments. There are a number of options. Some prepaid tuition plans offer contracts for a two-year community college or a four-year undergraduate program, or a combination of the two, and can cover one to five years of tuition. Some plans even allow the contract to be applied to graduate school tuition.

Covered educational expenses: With only a few exceptions, however, most prepaid tuition plans do not cover other expenses, such as room and board. So you may want to consider other college savings options to cover these costs.

Guarantees and safety features: Most states guarantee that the funds you put into a prepaid plan will keep pace with tuition. Some, but not all states back their prepaid tuition plans by the full faith and credit of the state, meaning that if the program should find itself in financial difficulty, the state will step in to provide the necessary funding.

Residency requirements and other limitations: Most state prepaid tuition plans require either you or your child to be a resident of the state offering the plan when you apply. Some limit enrollment to a certain period each year. Many prepaid tuition plans also have age or grade limits for beneficiaries (i.e., future college students).

Portability: If your child chooses not to attend a college covered by the prepaid tuition plan, all is not lost. Although you will not get the benefit of guaranteed tuition, all prepaid tuition plans allow you to use plan money to pay tuition at other colleges and universities. Many state prepaid tuition plans will pay out an amount equal to the weighted average tuition and mandatory fees at your state's public institutions, not to exceed the actual tuition and fees you incur. prepaid plans also let you transfer the plan to a child's brother or sister (although age restrictions may prevent transfers to an older sibling). Unfortunately, if your child chooses not to go to college and a sibling doesn't use the plan, or you need to cancel the prepaid plan, most plans will only give you back what you originally contributed with a reduction or elimination of any interest earned. Some plans also charge a cancellation fee.

Before buying a 529 plan, you should find out about the particular plan you are considering, and be sure you understand the plan's description of fees and expenses. Work with your financial professional to help you make the right choices.

HOLIDAY PET TIPS

Submitted by Melissa Todd

As you celebrate the season, it's important to keep your furry friends safe and stress-free.

Household changes and activity can be very hard on pets.

- Be careful with holiday decorations. Many plants and berries (poinsettias, mistletoe, ivy and holly to name a few) can be toxic to pets. Also be careful where you hang ornaments and decorations...the higher the better!
- Gatherings of people and holiday parties can frighten animals. Plan a safe place for them to retreat too when company arrives or when Halloween doorbells are ringing.
- Holiday leftovers can wreak havoc with your pet's digestive system. This is especially true with older pets. Turkey drippings, poultry bones and chocolate can all result in a trip to the emergency vet.

Submitted by Gia Rodriguez

Cy-Woods High School presents its very first musical, Crazy for You, featuring a book by Ken Ludwig and music by George and Ira Gershwin. The 1992 Tony Award-winning show has been called 'riotously entertaining' and includes such classic Gershwin songs as 'Embraceable You,' 'I Got Rhythm,' and 'Nice Work If You Can Get It.' 'I am very excited about the Cy-Woods Community coming together for such a large musical,' says Wendy Carrell, the director of the Cy-Woods Theater Program. 'We will have the choir, band, orchestra, and theater departments working together to make our 1st musical become a reality. I love the high-paced tap numbers and Ken Ludwig's sense of comedy. I wanted a classic musical that is written for today's audiences. It's going to be a blast.' Performances are on November 14, 15, 17 at 7pm and November 16 at 2pm at the Cy-Woods High School Auditorium, 16825 Spring Cypress Rd. Call 281-213-1901 or visit <http://destined.to/cywoodsdrama>.

Adoption Coalition

Submitted by Tracy Eilers, Executive Director Adoption Coalition of Texas

I know you have seen Jarod's picture before, but since he is still waiting for a permanent home – a Forever Family – it is important to once again share his story.

Jarod will turn 18 in December. While you may think 18 is the time when kids leave home and are on their own, it sometimes doesn't work that way for children raised in the foster care system. In fact, it usually never works that way. Although these kids may be on their own, there are ill prepared to live 100% self sufficient, as most kids are.

For Jarod, we would love to have a family in the Austin area. He is in school, enjoying the work and playing football, and wants to continue with his education and eventually, go to college or in the Marines.

If you are willing to learn more about adopting a teenager, or Jarod specifically, please call Tracy Eilers at 512-301-2825 or email the Adoption Coalition of Texas at info@adopttexas.org and put "Jarod" in the subject line.

A little more about Jarod...

Imagine growing up in an unstable environment. Imagine having to be responsible for yourself at a very young age. Then, imagine, at 10 years old someone removing you from the only environment you have known and putting you in foster care with strangers. While this is done for the safety and well-being of the child, it is often difficult for children to understand. Sometimes they are sad, hurt, frustrated and angry. They are angry for being in this situation in the first place, angry for being in a strange place, angry because the world has let them down, angry because they now have no control over their future. You see, kids connect to things rather easily, even if it is a bad situation...when that is all you know, that is all you know.

Meet Jarod

Fast forward seven years and several foster homes later and you are still in foster care, you are angrier than ever because of the lack of control and because you simply do not know how to handle things. You mistrust the system, have difficulty getting along with foster siblings who too come and go and you face a very uncertain future.

So, you have Jarod who is now 17. He is a good kid with a good heart who needs direction and desperately needs someone to love him. Loving him will help give him a foundation for developing self worth – you see, he figures that if no one loves him, what is there to love about himself. Jarod needs someone who is going to help him process his anger and feel stable. He needs a strong forever family with a strong male figure. He needs a family with patience who is going to allow him to work through school at his pace, learn to trust at his pace. The family needs to be okay with baby-steps. Maybe there is a family out there with the mentoring spirit – willing to adopt Jarod and give him a permanent home with no timelines...someone willing to help him finish school and develop plans for the future... most importantly, someone who will allow him to back up and grow up in the right developmental manner, instead of being forced to grow up. You see, for many kids the lack of stability and a family is the foundation on which everything else is built. If you have that mentor spirit and the willingness to take baby steps, please consider Jarod. Adopting a teenager is not easy and you cannot expect him to even resemble 17 years old, he has missed a lot and needs the opportunity to be a youth longer. And, teenagers in general are not easy to parent/mentor. This will take a special family. Did you know you can be single and adopt? Did you know there are no fees to adopt from the foster care system?

Achoo!!!!

Submitted by Dr. Tenesha Weine

If you live in Texas and other allergen-laden locales, you are certainly familiar with the outward symptoms of airborne allergies. And if you've ever rushed to the bathroom after lunch, you may also be familiar with some food allergies and what they do to you. But did you know that depression can actually be a symptom of an allergy at work in your body? So can muscle aches, joint pain, anger and irritability, even an inability to think clearly. The list of allergy symptoms goes on and on.

The exact cause of allergies isn't known. Western science defines an allergic reaction as the body's defense mechanism against an allergen or foreign substance. The body's immune system takes over in an attempt to protect it. Ironically, your body is making you uncomfortable by fighting what are often benign substances.

Allergies to airborne substances, ragweed, mold, dust, mountain juniper, are often indicative of inflammation somewhere in the GI tract. They are typically secondary to a food allergy that is creating the inflammation.

Some allergens are actually inherited, but these are few. In fact, allergic reactions to soy, peanuts, dairy products, and wheat appear to be the only genetic allergies. Changing the pH and calming the inflammation of the bowels is the key to reducing or eliminating allergies. While it isn't an overnight process, the results are worth it—living without sinusitis, itchy watery eyes, headaches, pressure, fatigue, drainage, sinus infections, irritable bowels, spastic colon, diarrhea, and constipation.

You may be shocked to discover how many of your seemingly unrelated symptoms are actually allergies.

Other symptoms of allergies include migraines, heartburn, fainting, blood-sugar problems, indigestion, and even mood disorders. Often, depression is actually a result of commonly ingested allergens, and many people find they can reduce or eliminate their need for psychotropic medications by modifying their food intake.

UT School of Public Health and Baylor College of Medicine to Offer Dual Degree Program

Baylor College of Medicine

HOUSTON – (Aug. 27, 2008) – Students studying to become doctors at Baylor College of Medicine will now have the opportunity to broaden their approach to patient care by earning a Master of Public Health degree from The University of Texas School of Public Health. The two institutions will offer the MD/MPH dual degree program, effective Sept. 1.

“It is a tremendous opportunity for both institutions to work with excellent students who want to further develop their approach to medicine and public health and want to have an impact at the community or population-level, whether that is local, national or international,” said Cynthia Chappell, Ph.D., professor and senior associate dean for academic affairs at the UT School of Public Health.

“This joint degree program will allow interested students to further their career path in both medicine and public health. BCM is enthusiastic about this new educational opportunity for its medical students,” said Dr. Stephen Greenberg, senior vice president and dean of medical education at BCM.

During the five-year program, participants will work toward their medical degree at Baylor while integrating public health training into their coursework. That training will include at least 33 credit hours from courses at the UT School of Public Health, plus an internship at a public health organization and a master’s thesis. The MPH degree program will require that students acquire skills and knowledge in five core public health disciplines, including social and behavioral sciences, biostatistics, environmental health sciences, epidemiology, and health services administration.

“Public health training can better prepare these students for many of the issues they will be facing in medicine,” Chappell said. “For example, with elderly patients, it isn’t enough just to treat their bodies. You need to know where they live, their family situation and so many other pieces of information that impact their health well beyond the aspects of medicine.”

Chappell said the dual degree program would be ideal for medical students who are interested in pursuing careers in international health, aging and/or multicultural health. “We plan to identify outlets for the students to experience the practice of medicine and public health in a community setting,” Chappell said. “That may be in Africa or here in our own backyard.”

Already, a half-dozen students who began classes in August at Baylor College of Medicine have expressed interest in the dual degree program with the UT School of Public Health. Chappell said they hope to enroll between 12 and 15 students per year.

The UT School of Public Health offers a similar dual degree program with The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio and it is currently in the process of revamping its MD/MPH program with The University of Texas Medical School at Houston.
