Congratulations to Timothy A. and Julie D. Novak, 10105 Inshore Drive for being chosen as the winners of the River Place Garden Club's YARD OF THE MONTH! This colorful and beautifully maintained yard is well worth driving by for a closer view. Timothy Novak shared one of his maintenance tips with us and it is the purchase of 15 yards of Dillo Dirt applied to the front yard last spring. After spreading and watering this rich soil for about three weeks, the lawn “came alive” and has remained green and beautiful ever since. He plans on doing the backyard next year as most of his family lives near by and he and his wife enjoy entertaining them outdoors. A member of the Garden Club, will award a $50.00 gift certificate to Mr. and Mrs. Novak.

The Garden Club meets the second Thursday of the month and will resume September 10th at 7:00pm. To receive the address and program information please call Ann Kennedy at 215-9089. Visitors welcome.

This is a story about the lost Victorian Austin which once thrived here. The John H. Houghton House was one of the larger, more elegant residences built in the late nineteenth century in the Capitol area. John Henry Houghton built this handsome house around 1886 at the corner of 12th and Lavaca St. His family had been wealthy, but lost it all during the Civil War. The son started over again as a teamster, hauling goods from Hempstead to Austin and Georgetown. When he reached the pinnacle of his success, he asked noted Central Texas architect James Wahrenberger to design a house for his family. Wahrenberger had lately been a finalist for the design of the new State Capitol, placing second in the competition.

When driving south on Guadalupe Street it was impossible not to notice the round turret and stately central tower of the Houghton House. Over the years, as many of its fellows disappeared, the Houghton (Continued on Page 2)

House became a striking landmark. Its roof exhibited all the features of a mature Victorian residence. An Historic American Buildings Survey completed just before its destruction notes that it had a “complex form with ridged and hipped projections and numerous dormers…. The central square tower over the entrance has a flared pyramidal steep roof with dormers on each of the four sides. The corner circular tower is topped with a steep-roofed conical tower with a single dormer. There were decorative metal finials on these towers” (HABS, p.11).

A visitor entered the house via an entrance foyer under the main tower. On the left were the stair hall, then the library, then a large ballroom. To the right of the hall was the parlor with wide folding doors opening to an octagonal dining room. Like many great houses of the period, its detailing was an eclectic mix: like stained glass windows, classically inspired mantelpieces, and fanciful woodwork.

In 1973, San Marcos contractor John Stokes purchased the house from Johnson Properties of Austin. Apparently Stokes was obligated to build a parking garage on the site under the terms of a pre-existing mortgage. Two months later, on May 8, 1973, “Mansion's Fate Dims” reported the Austin Statesman. Stokes, who was kept very busy during Austin's building boom of the 1970s, was quoted in the article as saying “I am not going to preserve that house. If someone wants to save the home but ultimately it was torn down and replaced by The Stokes Parking Garage in 1973.

I decided to work with Goldwasser Real Estate because they immediately responded to me. My agent was very thorough, explaining all of the different marketing elements that she would incorporate. She helped me decide on a good price for the house that would get a lot of showings.

Goldwasser Real Estate and their marketing team made all the difference in the world to get increased showings. My agent made suggestions to prepare the house, and they helped! Once we got the house staged, listed on the market, and the marketing started to take effect, we had a really high volume of showings. We had people coming in on a consistent basis.

We got multiple offers, and we were very happy with the price we received, since it was more than we expected.

I highly recommend Goldwasser Real Estate to everyone that I know who’s looking to sell their house!

Dear Vandegrift Parents,

I am pleased to announce that we have hired Mr. Andre Clark to be the Vandegrift High School Choir Director. Mr. Clark will split his time between Cedar Park Middle School and Vandegrift High School for the 2009-2010 school year.

Andre Clark has taught in Georgetown ISD for the entire duration of his teaching career, as a founding faculty member of two campuses in addition to serving as Head Choral Director at Georgetown HS from 2006-2008. Mr. Clark is a member of TCDA, TMAA, and TMEA, currently serving as TMEA Region 26 Secretary. His undergraduate degree in Secondary Music Education is from Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos. Prior to teaching, he was the Choir Director at First Lutheran Church in San Marcos, later the Choir and Youth Director at Holy Cross Lutheran Church in Yoakum, Tx. Mr. Clark currently resides in Georgetown with his wife, Kara. He is an avid off-road motorcycle enthusiast. We are excited to have Mr. Clark on our staff. He has the vision, experience and commitment to make Vandegrift Choir one of the best programs in the State.

Opening a 9th/10th grade campus poses many unique staffing challenges, especially in fine arts; however, with the full support of LISD for our creative staffing solutions we have been able to meet the needs of our growing campus and allowed us to hire the highest caliber of new staff. Please join me in thanking LISD Senior Administration and the LISD Board of Trustees for their long-range vision and continuing support of our fine arts programs and students!

Vandegrift High School Band Events

AUGUST 1 - PANCAKE BREAKFAST & CAMPUS TOUR

As the incoming students and staff of Vandegrift High School anticipate their opening year, much of the community shares their excitement. Many of you may already have driven by the new high school to catch a glimpse of the outside progress made on both Four Points Middle School, where the students of Vandegrift will be located for their first year, and the high school with its new stadium.

For those curious about the interior of the facility, the Vandegrift High School Band will be hosting a pancake breakfast on Saturday, August 1, with student-led tours of Four Points Middle School and Vandegrift’s stadium. This will be the very first look at the inside of our new school, and it is open to everyone, whether your children will attend Vandegrift next year or later on.

Admission is $7 at the door, and pancakes, sausage, orange juice and coffee will be served. You can pre-order tickets online at www.vhsband.com. Tours of the campus are included in the admission cost. The pancake breakfast is very much a community event, and an opportunity to enjoy a wonderful breakfast with friends while seeing the new school and meeting some of the students.

AUGUST 15 – MARCH-A-THON

The inaugural Vandegrift Marching Band will set out at 8am on Saturday, August 15, at John Simpson Park and march the Steiner Ranch neighborhood for 4+ hours, providing music and entertainment in a highly mobile fashion as well as providing customized lawn concerts for those who donate $100 or more. The Band will be publicly performing the new school song and fight song for the first time during their March-a-thon. Students are collecting sponsors to support them in marching, and the proceeds will go to support the Vandegrift Band with start up fees, marching competitions, trips and supplemental instruction.

For a map of the parade route and information on donating online, go to www.vhsband.com. The VHS Band March-A-Thon is the band’s biggest and most important fundraiser of the year. Private concerts in cul-de-sacs and on lawns are available by contacting Mr. Jeremy Spicer, Director of Bands at Vandegrift. Come join in the fun and hear the inaugural performance of the Vandegrift Band.

Helping Your Child Adjust to Preschool

There are plenty of benefits of preschool - it can be a great place for kids to interact with peers and to learn valuable life lessons such as how to share, take turns, and follow rules. Preschool can also prepare kids for kindergarten and beyond.

But going to preschool does come with its fair share of emotions, for both the parent and the child. For a kid, entering a new preschool environment filled with unfamiliar teachers and children can cause both anxiety and anticipation. For parents, there may be mixed emotions over whether the child is ready for preschool. The more comfortable you are about your decision to place your child in preschool and the more familiar the setting can be made for your child, the fewer problems you - and your little one - will encounter.

Easing Your Child's Fears

Spend time talking with your child about preschool even before it starts. Before the first day, gradually introduce your child to activities that often take place in a classroom. A child accustomed to scribbling with paper and crayons at home, for example, will find it comforting to discover the same crayons and paper in his or her preschool classroom.

Visiting your child's first preschool classroom a few times before school starts can also ease the entrance into unfamiliar territory. This offers the opportunity to not only meet your child's teacher and ask about routines and common activities, but to then introduce some of those routines and activities to the child at home. While you're in the classroom, let your child explore and observe the class in his or her own way and choose whether to interact with other children. The idea is to familiarize your child with the classroom and to let him or her get comfortable.

You can also use this time to ask your child's new teacher how he or she handles the first tear-filled days. How will the first week be structured to make the transition smooth for your child?

Although it's necessary for you to acknowledge the important step your child is taking and to provide support, too much emphasis on the change may just make your child's anxiety worse. Young kids can pick up on their parents' nonverbal cues. If you feel guilty or worried about leaving your child at school, he or she will probably sense that. The more calm and assured you are about your choice to send your child to preschool, the more confident your child will be.

The First day

When you enter the classroom on the first day, calmly reintroduce the teacher to your child, then step back and let him or her set the tone. This will allow the teacher to begin forming a relationship with your child. Your endorsement of the teacher will show your child that he or she will be happy and safe in the teacher's care.

If your child clings to you or refuses to participate in the class, don't get upset - this may only upset your child more. Follow the guidelines described by the teacher beforehand, and go at your child's pace.

Suggestions for leaving your child at preschool are simple but can be hard on a parent. Always say a loving good-bye to your child, but once you do, you should leave promptly. Never sneak out. As tempting as it may be, leaving without saying good-bye may make your child feel abandoned, whereas a long farewell scene might only serve to reinforce a child's sense that preschool is a bad place.

A consistent and predictable farewell ritual can make leaving easier. Some parents wave from outside a certain classroom window or

Is Your Home an Internet Broadcaster?
(It might be and you don't even know it)

Submitted by Laurie Scott

Laptop computers have made computing mobile and very convenient. Wireless routers in our homes have made it possible to use our computers anywhere in the home, and not just where the connection comes into your home.

If you have a wireless router at home, then you are using one of three possible levels of security, 1) none, 2) poor and 3) what you SHOULD be using. “None” is real simple, open the box, plug in the router, connect to the Internet. With this connection, ANYONE within range, meaning your neighbors, passersby and that annoying teen-age kid down the who likes to hang around your house in the evening can use your wireless network to access the internet or worse, access your computers at home. Also, any illegal activity over the Internet is going to be traced back to your home, not to the person or computer that may have done it.

I often tell the story of the time I moved to Austin from Sacramento 4 1/2 years ago over the Thanksgiving holiday. I stayed overnight with a friend in Flagstaff, Arizona at her parents’ home. Lots of relatives were there and they all smoked (and smoked a lot). Even though it was 35 degrees outside, I went and sat in my car for an hour just to breath fresh air. While in my car I powered up my laptop and discovered a completely unsecured network within range. I connected to it and took the opportunity to check my email and do some web surfing. Then the good Samaritan in me decided to do them a favor. I figured they hadn’t changed the default password on their router, and sure enough I was right. I logged onto their router and took a screen shot of it. Since they were also using the default name for their computer network, I changed mine to match and could see that they had a computer turned on with one of their hard drives shared (no, I didn’t peek at it.) I also saw that they had an Epson printer connected to it, so I downloaded the printer driver and installed it on my laptop, opened Microsoft Word and pasted the screen shot of their router into it. I also included instructions on how to keep prying eyes out of their network, thanked them that I was able to check my email, and then I PRINTED the document out on their printer. Keep in mind I have no idea which house I had connected to. I imagine if they were home that they were a little shocked to have their printer start all by itself and print a note from a complete stranger. Lucky for them I wasn’t someone who wanted to copy their files, plant a virus or lock them out of their own network.

The two levels of security that are usually displayed with a padlock symbol are WEP and WPA. WEP falls into the “poor” category of security. WEP will keep honest people out of your network, and will prevent someone from accidentally getting connected to your network, but WEP was “cracked” several years ago, and nowadays it only takes a laptop and 60 seconds to break into a network secured with WEP.

What you should be using is WPA (or WPA2) to provides a connection that (with a good password) can’t be cracked in a comfortable lifetime. Log into your router (usually at http://192.168.0.1 or http://192.168.1.1), go to the wireless security settings and set it for WPA. Then change your laptops and other wireless devices to match.

There are many different routers on the market, but there are a few standard rules to follow: Changing the security settings on your router should always be done with the computer attached to the router via a network cable - don’t change it over a wireless connection. If you make a mistake, you won’t be able to get back in to fix it. In the wireless security settings on your router, you will see WEP and SHOULD see WPA as options. If you don’t see WPA as an option, your router is probably several years old. Go to the manufacturer’s support page on their web site and look for updated “firmware” to download. Download the firmware and update the router per the instructions provided by the manufacturer. If the latest firmware doesn’t provide WPA encryption, then it’s time for a trip to Best Buy or Fry’s for a new router. ANY new router will provide WPA encryption. Next use a strong password. A strong password should be at least 12 characters long, feel free to make it a lot longer - the longer the better. Be sure to use upper and lower case letters, use numbers AND use special characters like # * ( \ } \ [. Write it down and put it in a safe place. If it helps, use 2 or 3 non-related words or numbers that you know but no one is likely to guess. Something like maybe the city you got married in with the year of your first car and the name of your brother’s daughter. It might look something like Dallas@1989!Samantha#. Even people you know you won’t guess this. Be creative and have fun, but MAKE IT STRONG!

Next month I’ll talk about keeping your information secure when you’re online both at home and away.
The grocery store can be a scary place! All those isles filled with grocery goodness! What is healthy and what isn't? How do you know where to start and what to buy? Follow these simple rules to ensure that you get the most out of your grocery shopping experience:

- STAY TO THE OUTSIDE
  - Most everything you need is on the perimeter of the store. Your produce, meats, and dairy cases are all on the outside. The isles are where the boxed and processed foods reside.

- ORGANIC...IS IT WORTH IT?
  - Not all things are necessary to buy organic. The following produce list is often referred to as the “Dirty Dozen” because they contain the highest levels of pesticides.
  - THE DIRTY DOZEN: Peaches, Apples, Sweet Bell Peppers, Celery, Nectarines, Strawberries, Cherries, Pears, Grapes (Imported), Spinach, Lettuce, Potatoes.
  - THE LEAST CONTAMINATED: Onions, Avocado, Sweet Corn (Frozen), Pineapples, Mango, Asparagus, Sweet Peas (Frozen), Kiwi Fruit, Bananas, Cabbage, Broccoli, Papaya.

  - Beef, Poultry, and Dairy are also worth the organic price because they are produced without growth hormones and antibiotics.
  - Currently the USDA has not developed organic certification standards for seafood.
  - REMEMBER: buying organic foods that aren’t good for you doesn’t make them healthy!!

- BUY FROZEN
  - Frozen fruits and vegetables are often flash frozen locking in nutrients better than canned foods.
  - Frozen fish and chicken is also flash frozen at the source locking in nutrients and making them convenient alternatives to store in your freezer.

- DON’T BE AN IMPULSE BUYER
  - Make a list according to how your grocery store is laid out and STICK TO IT! If ice cream isn’t on your list, don’t go down the ice cream aisle.
  - Don’t go to the grocery store when you are tired, hungry or irritable. This almost always leads to impulse buys.

- If possible, don’t take the kids! Grocery stores target impulse buyers and almost all kids are impulse buyers!
- Don’t get distracted at the checkout line. As you are waiting to check out grocery stores stock the racks with tempting candy bars and sodas. Don’t be fooled! If you think you might give in bring in water with you and pop a piece of sugar free gum! Or flip through the latest gossip magazine until it is your turn to pay.
- If you don’t buy the junk food, you won’t have it in the house!

• CHECK OUT THE LABEL
- THE FDA requires that all ingredients be listed in descending order of predominance by weight. Try to pick foods that have a short ingredient list that don’t have many artificial ingredients.
- Look for foods that have ingredients that you can pronounce
- Choose foods that are “real”. Examples are 100% fruit juice or 100% whole-grain items with as little processing and as few additives as possible. If you want more salt or sugar, add it yourself.

Finally, just take a deep breath and go for it! You are in control and remember if you don’t buy it; it won’t find its way into your house!

The challenge is to fill every row across, every column down, and every 3x3 box with the digits 1 through 9. Each 1 through 9 digit must appear only once in each row across, each column down, and each 3x3 box.

The “Four Awareness” Points When Playing Tennis
Submitted by Fernando M. Velasco

In past issues, I have written about how to choose proper tennis equipment and efficient ways to practice. This issue offers advice on how to tackle the “critical points” in your matches.

In every match, you will find critical points that can determine whether a player wins or losses. At these critical points, I suggest reviewing what I call the “four awareness” points:

First Awareness: Self
Every player possesses certain shots that they feel more comfortable hitting on a critical point. For example, it could be a forehand topspin, or a slice one. When choosing which shot to hit on a critical point, decisively utilize the shot that comes more naturally without changing your mind. That is when mistakes are made.

Second Awareness: Opponent
When the players decide on a shot at a critical point, they need to consider their opponent’s strengths and weaknesses. During the match, they should notice the shots the opponent has less success with than others. On a critical point, players should use the shot they feel more comfortable with but also they will aim towards their opponent’s weaknesses.

Third Awareness: Court
When you decide on your shot, the placement and being aware of the court challenges, a good player should also remember the score in hand. Players will be aggressive when the score is in their favor, and be more conservative when tied, or behind. For example, when a player is serving at 40-15, the serve should be a powerful and assertive. In contrast, if the score is 15-40, the player should serve the first serve with some power, but with more placement.

Over time, these four awareness points will become both automatic and reactionary as players become more experienced in playing and competing. After the shot has been properly executed, they will sometimes give themselves a pat on the back for doing the right thing at the right time, and remind themselves that they followed the “four awareness” points.

Britt’s Book Buzz:
It’s Criminal!

THE ASSOCIATE BY JOHN GRISHAM
I am a positive person and I feel bad about putting negativity out there, especially in a book review. I must say, however, that The Associate by John Grisham was a terrible book. I hadn’t read anything by Grisham since The Firm and The Pelican Brief while in high school. At the time, they seemed like somewhat smart novels. I came across The Associate at Half Price Books and thought “why not?” Boy, has time changed the author—and not for the better. My mom put it best, “he has a formula to his books.” Meaning, he doesn’t put much thought into the books other than to get them on the bookshelves as quickly as possible. Do lawyers even read these books or find them even mildly entertaining?

In the book, a hotshot law student has two great job offers and a bright future, but a blackmailing expert team has found a skeleton in his closet and exploits it to the fullest in order to obtain highly confidential information. Only in the last 50 or so pages does the law student finally realize that he should just come clean and face the issue. Wouldn’t a Yale law student know how to resolve the situation without having to work with the blackmailers? I have absolutely no law background, but I saw no evidence to even convict him!

Character development was poor and the book was loaded with cliché after cliché and stereotypes (i.e. the hot law student who dressed really great and showed off her perfect body to the enjoyment of her male colleagues). The ending was horrifically lazy and unfinished.

Looking at the bright side, I hope this review saved you a worthless read.

Feel free to comment on this review or your thoughts on the book or suggest a book for me to review on my blog at http://www.brittsbuzz.blogspot.com.
A Sensible Plan for College Funding
Submitted by Rich Keith

As a parent, you may feel a moral obligation to fund your children's education, but you don't want to sacrifice your current lifestyle or rob your future retirement in order to fund education costs. Well, to make funding both their education and your retirement a non-issue, you must consider how to:

- Maximize your cash flow so that you can invest funds in education and retirement accounts. This includes both reducing debt and lowering expenses.
- Utilize the numerous education tax incentives provided by the IRS to reduce taxes and produce so-called “tax scholarships” for your family.
- Qualify for merit and need-based financial aid offered by colleges.

If you can maximize the benefits produced by the above strategies, you may not have to compromise your education and retirement goals. Historically, we see that college costs have risen at 2 to 3 times the inflation rate of the Consumer Price Index. And college really costs you more than you think because it is paid with after-tax dollars. Depending on which tax bracket you are in, the amount you must earn to pay for college is a good deal more because you must first pay the IRS…before you pay the college.

How old will you be when your last child graduates from college? Assume that you are 45 years old and you plan to retire in 20 years and that a public college costs $60,000 for 4 years. You take the money out of your retirement savings today. The money you give to a public college for four years will cost your retirement fund about $280,000 at an 8% return. Elite colleges cost more, but there is a hidden benefit which we will get to later. And remember, these numbers are for just one child's college education.

Clearly this presents a funding dilemma shared by parents everywhere: how to fund college and retirement? Experts agree there are two methods to make this work:

The first method is by using your money through: (A) paying out of your current income, (B) paying with withdrawals from your savings accounts, or (C) borrowing. Most people use some combination of all three. The second method is to use money from others. This comes in the following forms: (A) financial aid, (B) by using special education tax strategies, (C) gifts from relatives, or (D) your child's resources (his/her income and assets). We will explore this topic in future columns, how to make a sensible, methodical plan for funding college expenses.

Three Business Networking Groups in the Area

Are you looking to grow your business in 2009? If so, you might be interested in a few of the business networking groups in the area. There are a few to choose from:

Steiner Ranch Referrals BNI Group
Meetings are on Thursday mornings from 8:00 to 9:30 at Thai Harmony in Steiner Ranch. Visitors are welcome! If you are interested in visiting a meeting please contact Mark Taylor at marktaylor@actioncoach.com for more information or visit www.BNIAustin.com.

Four Points BNI
Meetings are on Wednesday at lunch from 11:30 to 1:00 at the River Place Country Club. Visitors are welcome! If you are interested in visiting a meeting please contact Amy Oehler at Amy@Lending360.net or visit www.BNIAustin.com.

A Business Referral Group Made Fun
Networking Northwest Austin is expanding its member base of businesses in our area. NWNWA members build close business and personal relationships. We believe in business by referrals and having a limited member base (not duplicating professions), so you will not see your competitors here. We have a caring, positive, involved group of people who not only wish to build their business, but also want to build the strength of our networking group. NWNWA meets on the 2nd and 4th Tuesday at Waterloo Ice House, 360 & FM 2222 from 7:00 am – 8:30 am. And a fun happy hour once per month at a beautiful location. Come to a breakfast or call Dorothy Scarborough – President dscarborough5@austin.rr.com, 512-589-3678.
