FACTS YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT DROWNING

Drowning is the leading cause of unintentional injury-related death in children ages 1-4

DROWNING WILL AFFECT YOU OR SOMEONE YOU KNOW

Drowning is the 2nd leading cause of unintentional injury-related death ages 1-14.

For more information, check out our website at www.colinshope.org

DROWNING CAN STILL OCCUR EVEN IF YOU KNOW HOW TO SWIM

NO ONE is "drown proof" – no matter their level of swimming ability.

Falls, entrapments, and injuries lead to drowning regardless of swimming level.

A majority of people overestimate their own and their child's ability to swim, especially in a panic event.

DROWNING IS QUICK AND SILENT

Drowning occurs in as little as 2 minutes.

Irreversible brain damage occurs in as little as 4 minutes.

Most children are out of sight or missing for less than 5 minutes and usually in the presence of 1 or both parents.

Most children die who are submerged for as little as 6-10 minutes.

Children who drown do not scream, splash, or struggle. They silently slip beneath the water, even with adults & lifeguards present.

A Sensible Plan for College Funding

Submitted by Rich Keith

Previously we discussed that how you fund college expenses is divided naturally between using your money, and by using other peoples' money. This sounds simple but each scenario requires understanding of the long-term impacts. The first thing your financial coach should be asking you is about your strategy for funding. Are you willing to fund 2 years? 4 years? Graduate school too? Community college, public university or private?

In President Lincoln's time, the typical family chose only one promising male child to attend college. While these men often became very successful (witness William Henry Seward, Lincoln's Secretary of State), their other children were left out of the equation. Today's children are much luckier. Even so, ask the hard questions starting at or before your oldest child's 15th birthday. While they may tell you that attending a community college will deprive them of the college experience, consider what that college experience will cost in real dollars. And, getting into college as a junior is sometimes less competitive than entering as a freshman. Better yet, some community colleges have written agreements with universities on which classes are transferrable.

Importantly, parents need to figure out their college budget ahead of time and then discuss it with their child before he or she applies. In this way, colleges with the net cost above the predetermined budget can come off the list. The funding budget is made of a combination of moneys coming from your pre-tax accounts, regular (taxable) savings, and retirement accounts, to name a few. Several savings plans are available and many are tax-advantaged. Your financial professional and tax pro can help you here.

There are advantages and disadvantages to using your own money for college expenses. A detailed plan will reveal the opportunity cost of funding everything yourself. That's one reason why people turn to loans. Remember the power of using the IRS "tax scholarships" to help you maximize every dollar saved. Any time you can reduce your tax it's the same as a scholarship or grant. And the benefits to you increase as your tax bracket increases. Importantly, all educational tax strategies must be reviewed with your tax advisor in order to coordinate the interrelationship between tax, other financial aid and your family's overall financial plan for the future. Next month: more on tax scholarships.

Eating to Live: 5 Foods You Should Eat Daily

Submitted by
Dr. Tenesah Weine

1. Spinach - Spinach is the best source of omega-3s (plant-based), and folate, both help reduce the risk of heart disease, stroke, and osteoporosis. Incorporate Spinach into your salads, add spinach to scrambled eggs, or drape it over pizza.

2. Blueberries - Blueberries have more antioxidants than any other North American fruit; blueberries help prevent cancer, diabetes, and age-related memory changes (they are nicknamed "brain berry"). Blueberries are rich in fiber and vitamins A and C, they also boost cardiovascular health. Aim for 1 cup fresh blueberries a day, or 1/2 cup frozen or dried. Stick them into yogurt, cereal, or a smoothie. Of course they are great alone!

3. Yogurt - Yogurt containing probiotics will boost your immune system by building the gut lining. One ailment I test for in my office is candid/yeast, when positive I treat with probiotics. Not all yogurts have probiotics, so make sure the label says "live and active cultures." Aim for 1 cup of the calcium and protein-rich yogurt a day. Avoid yogurts with high sugar content, goat yogurt is most preferred.

4. Walnuts - Walnuts are richer in heart-healthy omega-3s than salmon, loaded with more anti-inflammatory polyphenols than red wine, and packing half as much muscle-building protein as chicken. Other nuts combine only one or two of these features, not all three. A serving of walnuts - about 1 ounce, or 7 nuts-is good anytime, but especially as a post workout recovery snack. Walnuts are great sprinkled over a salad.

5. Tomatoes - Red are the best, because they're packed with more of the antioxidant lycopene, and processed tomatoes are just as potent as fresh ones, because it's easier for the body to absorb the lycopene. Diets rich in lycopene can decrease your risk of bladder, lung, prostate, skin, and stomach cancers, as well as reduce the risk of coronary artery disease. Aim for 22 mg of lycopene a day, which is about eight red cherry tomatoes or a glass of tomato juice.

Note: While eating blueberries and other fruits you want to eat them on an empty stomach. You may have heard people complaining - every time I eat watermelon I burp, when I eat durian my stomach bloats up, when I eat a banana I feel like running to the toilet. When you eat fruit with foods, the fruit mixes with the putrefying other food and produces gas, hence you will bloat!

When you eat fruit, it immediately wants to go straight through the stomach into the intestines, but it is prevented from doing so when other food is present in the stomach. Adding fruit to a meal causes the whole meal to rot, ferment and turn into acid. The moment fruit comes into contact with the food in the stomach and digestive juices, the entire mass of food begins to spoil.

This will not arise if you eat the fruit on an empty stomach. If you eat fruit on an empty stomach, or right before a meal, it will play a major role to detoxify your system. It supplies you with a great deal of energy for weight loss and other life activities.

It's Not Too Late to Get Organized for the New School Year

Submitted by Kelly Butcher

School has just begun and you probably feel like you are drowning in the sea of papers, activities, and homework. As a professional organizer, I work with a lot of busy families who need help setting up routines for handling the abundance of paper from school, the mail, and for getting homework done. I hope to offer a few suggestions about routines to set-up and implement to help you have smooth sailing through this school year.

SOME GENERAL SYSTEMS TO HAVE IN PLACE INCLUDE:

- Calendar
- Incoming papers
- Homework

A large wall calendar with room enough to write each family member's activities is a must. Display the calendar in a location easily accessed by all family members. If you track your calendar electronically, have a centrally located computer with easy access for all family members. Assign a color to each family member and color-code activities.

Papers consisting of incoming mail, school papers, both school work and items that require a response, and activity-related items (schedules, release forms, etc) are always an issue. Set up an action file system for handling the incoming paperwork such as a desktop hanging file organizer with files for each child or school. Teach your children to get into the habit of putting important papers or papers requiring a signature in a folder marked with "Mom" or "Dad". After you have signed the paper, either place the paper in a folder to return to school or have your child put directly into their backpack. Also set up an archival system for the treasured school work that you want to save.

Fitting homework into our busy schedules is often difficult. Designate an area for your children to complete their work. For younger students, the kitchen table is probably where most of the homework is completed, so make sure all of the necessary supplies are available, so there is no excuse not to get started. I recommend using lidded plastic shoe-box size containers to hold markers, crayons, scissors, glue sticks, etc. Label the containers for ease in cleaning up. For older students who may complete their homework at a desk in their bedroom, ensure they have the necessary supplies available as well. A well-lit, clutter-free area away from distractions will help them stay focused on their work.

Establish a set time for homework to be completed. It may not be the same time every afternoon or evening based on after school activities. Look at the week ahead on Sunday evening and map out with your child the time they should complete their homework for each day based on that day's activities and mark it on the calendar. Most importantly, help your child get into the habit of packing their backpack before they go to bed. That way during the morning rush, important papers and items needed for school will not be forgotten at home.

Remember that developing new habits requires consistency and time. Begin setting up and implementing new systems as soon as possible and this school year will be off to a great start!

Improve Neighborhood Air Quality ... Fragrance Free Dryer Exhaust

By: Charlie & Michelle Bubnis

Have you ever been walking in the neighborhood enjoying the fresh air and then suddenly you are hit by the sweet fragranced smell of a heated artificial, petrochemical based scent from someone's clothes dryer exhaust? Often times a headache will occur, similar to people's reaction to perfumes worn in the office or at church. This is a normal protective reaction by the body as these fragrances are harmful neurotoxins and should be avoided whenever possible. National surveys found that at least 10% of the population reacts adversely to laundry products vented to the outdoors. Young children are particularly affected by fragranced chemicals because their body's detoxification mechanism is not fully developed.

Some of the most common chemicals used in fragranced laundry products are benzyl acetate, camphor, ethyl acetate, limonene and pentane. Many of these substances are capable of causing cancer, birth defects, central nervous system disorders, allergic reactions and chemical sensitivities. Some are on the EPA's hazardous waste list. According to a joint study by NIOSH and the U.S. House Subcommittee on Business Opportunities, 778 of the chemicals used in the chemical fragrance industry cause acute toxicity.

So the next time you are considering picking up a box of fragranced laundry detergent or fragranced dryer sheets...think about the impact on the neighborhood air quality and the proliferation of second hand scents. Healthier options could be: Add baking soda to the rinse cycle, or add ½ cup vinegar to the wash cycle to soften fabrics and reduce static cling. Vinegar is a natural fabric softener.

Do the neighborhood a favor and make sure your dryer exhaust doesn't pollute the environment. Be kind to yourself and to your neighbors, use unscented laundry products.

Online Shopping and Doing it Safely

Submitted by Laurie Scott

Online shopping is fast and money saving, but it can also be a minefield filled with everything from a disreputable seller to identity theft. However, with basic safeguards you can take advantage of the variety and cost savings the Internet can provide, while saving time and gas.

First, ALWAYS make sure before entering your credit card number in any website that you have a secure connection (easily confirmed by the https://... in the address bar rather than the usual http://...) Second, do basic research about the vendor if you're not familiar with them. A simple Google search on the name of the company will tell you if you're dealing with a legitimate company - if in doubt, shop elsewhere, it's not worth saving $2.00 if the company isn't reliable.

An excellent option is available from many credit card companies, this is known as "Virtual" account numbers (one-time use) that if stolen, won't do the thief any good. This can be either in the form of an online tool you use prior to your purchase, or an applet you download one-time to your computer and use it to generate a new number for you. You can ask at your bank if they offer this, but you're probably better off checking with their online support (they may not know in the brick and mortar building.) How it works is the applet generates a credit card number for you including the 3 digit security code and an expiration date (usually the end of the current month). The credit card company knows this number was generated for you, and charges your account normally just as if you had entered your real credit card information. The great thing is that it is good for the one purchase, and after that the number is not valid. If you want to make another purchase, you just have another number generated for you. The next month someone else may get that same number to use, but it will have a different security code and expiration date, so the credit card company won't be confused and think this is you.

Because we all have so many sites that require us to have a username and a password, it is easy to just use the same login for all your sites to keep it simple. The problem with this is of course if someone should get your username and password to one site, they now have it to all your sites. Roboform is a great tool that I use many times throughout the day. This inexpensive program (available at www.roboform.com) will store as many user names and passwords as you need, allowing you to create different logins for each site with real hard passwords (because now you don't have to remember them.) If you have a Mac, 1Password is an excellent solution (available at agilewebsolutions.com) A great benefit of Roboform is that IF you are infected with a keystroke logger trojan (a virus that sends all your keystroke information back to the author of the virus), nothing is captured by the virus because Roboform doesn't use the keyboard mode to enter your personal information. All your information is kept securely encrypted using a passphrase only you know. If your computer is ever stolen, no one will be able to see your usernames and passwords because they won't know your master passphrase. Also, it has a password generator that will create passwords that are almost impossible to figure out (the limiting factor is the site and their password policy.)

So don't fear shopping on the Internet, just take basic precautions and you'll be fine.
