Wow! The days are shorter, and the weather is colder. Winter is here once again. Luckily Texas winters, especially in Austin, only a few months. Nevertheless, winter can wreak havoc on fitness regimes for two reasons. Many individuals experience SAD (Seasonal Affective Disorder), which is winter blues or depression that occurs in people with normal mental health. It’s due to the lack of sunlight. According to the Mayo clinic, SAD can be treated with light therapy or antidepressants. If you think you might be suffering Seasonal Affective Disorder, talk to your doctor.

Second, many us tend to hibernate in our homes in the winter. Sitting at home in front of the fireplace with a warm blanket and drinking hot chocolate or tea or eating warm soup is more pleasing than going out and exercising in the cold or going to the gym after work when it’s already dark out. This makes it feel later than it is, when in reality it’s only 5 or 6 o’clock. Need not to worry though; here are some fitness tips that will keep you going until spring arrives again.

1. WARM UP AND DRINK PLENTY OF WATER.
   A proper warm-up is critical because cold temperatures can make your muscles tight and therefore more prone to injuries. Remember, always warm-up prior to engaging in any physical activity. Drink, drink, and drink plenty of water. Most people forget the importance of water during the colder months and are more likely to become dehydrated.

2. GO WINDOW SHOPPING AT THE LOCAL MALL!
   Most local mall(s) open an hour early in order to provide a safe indoor walking haven during the winter months. If you can’t make it in morning, take your sneakers with you and go right after work. Three or four times a week will help keep the pounds off.

3. REMEMBER THOSE EXERCISE VIDEOS.
   Just about everyone has had one. Wipe the dust off your exercise video and use it on the days you can’t exercise outdoors because of the darkness. If you don’t have an exercise video, check one out at your local library and/or video rental stores. Also, some cable networks have exercise channels on-demand for no charge, so look at your channel menu.

4. CREATE A HOME GYM.
   Most people have a home gym without realizing it. Check you garage, under the bed, storage room, and closet. You can easily set-up a great workout routine with just a set of dumbbells, an exercise ball and a jump rope. If you don’t any of these items, you can purchase most of these items at a local athletic supplier or discounted resale store for about $50 to $60.

   There’s no need to hit the couch or hibernate during the winter months. Stay motivated. With a little knowledge and motivation, anyone can meet the challenges of winter exercise. Have a fun, safe and a physically active winter. -VALERIE SALINAS
TIPS FOR TEACHING CHILDREN

About Table Manners
Submitted by Rebecca Beavers

Teaching your children table manners may sound old fashioned, but it never goes out of style. Having good manners shows your respect for other people, and it’s more than saying “please” and “thank you.” It’s about helping your children develop habits and behaviors that will help them relate to adults and other children in a positive way. “To make your family mealtime time special and relaxing, slow down, sit and talk with your children and expect good behavior. You will be pleasantly surprised at how much easier and enjoyable it will become,” said Dr. Mary Zurn, vice president of education for Primrose Schools. “This is important because children with good manners often find it easier to make friends and get along with others at school and at home.”

Dr. Zurn offers five table manners tips to get parents started:

1. Start early: Don’t wait until you think your child is “old enough” to learn polite behavior. Just as children learn to crawl before they learn to walk, they also learn manners in stages. Even infants watch parents for rules of expected behavior. Very young children can learn to sign key phrases such as “please” or “thank you” and then transition to the spoken words around age two. By age three, children should be able to stay seated at mealtime if you sit down with them.

2. Give specific feedback: Children learn best when they receive specific feedback about their behavior which is far more effective than generic praise. For example, instead of saying, “Good job,” you can say, “I’m so glad you set the table.”

3. Encourage polite conversation: Children as young as two can learn to engage in polite conversation at the dinner table with the right kind of guidance. As you are at the table eating together, show them how to take turns listening, talking, and asking questions.

4. Set a good example: Make sure your words and actions match. Children watch parents all the time for behavior clues. For example, if you want your child to eat broccoli because it’s a healthy food choice, you will need to let them see you enjoy eating it as well.

5. Create a routine: Children learn best from consistency because it helps them know what to expect. Start with the repetition of a few simple steps such as putting a napkin in your lap when you sit down. Create a routine that is easy for them to repeat and remember. December Program: Fabulous Holiday Entertainment

Join us to hear Emily Bern, an award-winning singer and actress as she sings for us at our holiday luncheon. Emily has been performing in Austin for the past ten years. Most recently, she appeared as Sister Robert Anne in Nunsense with TexARTS, a company she has previously performed with including The Music Man (Alma), Big River (Widow Douglas) and Damn Yankees (Doris). On the Zilker Hillside, Emily played Alice Miller in My Favorite Year (she won a B. Iden Payne award), the Wardrobe in Beauty and The Beast, and most recently, Eulalie Mackecknie Shinn in The Music Man (Payne nominee). Emily performed in eight consecutive Austin Musical Theatre shows. At Austin Playhouse she was Hattie in Kiss Me Kate and Miss Weston in Damn Yankees. She has played a variety of characters as well as playing Aldonza in Man of La Mancha--one of her all time dream roles--at the Sam Bass Theater in Round Rock. Emily directed Schoolhouse Rock Live! Junior for TexARTS at the Long Center, and teaches at their Academy in Lakeway. She also teaches acting and singing at Huntington Surrey High School, and offers lessons to people of all ages at her house in Southwest Austin. She will be accompanied on the piano is Marlene Nichols.
At the core of Same Kind of Different as Me, a true story written by Ron Hall and Denver Moore, are the relationships that Ron and Denver have with each other, their friends, Ron’s spouse and children, nature, the environment in which they were raised (especially Denver) and most importantly, God.

Denver, an illiterate and homeless African American man from Louisiana has suffered at the hands of many throughout his life but through it all become a true messenger for God. The book begins with Denver recounting his heartbreaking life—from the back breaking work of picking cotton to seeing the people he loved most in the world disappear. The book so graphically reveals the gut wrenching life of a boy who wants for almost nothing, but is treated terribly.

Ron is a self-made millionaire whose heart was open to being guided by God, at the hands of his wife Deborah. Deborah—a person so filled with faith—heard God speak to her and conveyed these very specific and detailed visions to Ron (including seeing Denver’s face even though they had not met him yet) and together, they became an integral part of a community of homeless people in Forth Worth, Texas. And this is where Ron’s and Denver’s lives intersected and forever changed.

The writing is relatable and each personality (the book alternates between Ron’s and Denver’s voices) is clearly unique and endearing. For example Ron, who worked on this grandpa’s farm during summers writes of the land, “…the land is miserable, cursed with soil that may well be the original inspiration for cement.”

The book addresses a question that all of us have asked, “Why did God let that happen?” It challenges faith in a very personal way. The book also encourages each of us to believe that God has a purpose for us, even if it isn’t clear at this moment.

Same Kind of Different as Me demonstrates that the human spirit is fragile while at the same time immensely strong. It shows how trust, prayer and unconditional love can bring out amazing change and a life long friendship.

The book ended with a wonderful reminder, “…everybody’s different…We’re all just regular folks walkin down the road God done set in front of us…this earth ain’t no final restin’ place. So in a way, we is all homeless—just workin our way toward home.”

Feel free to comment on this review, your thoughts on the book or suggest a book for me to review on my blog: http://brittsbuzz.blogspot.com.
