Life is all about balance. So is government.

My ultimate desire is for Bee Cave to become a town with character, identity and synergy. I also want to see the town's history and past standards incorporated into it's future. Knowing growth is coming our way we need to make sure it is done in a responsible manner, without thwarting the small town atmosphere that brought us here. With the Comprehensive Plan as a guide, we can help Bee Cave keep its authenticity and Hill Country heritage.

I have a lot of experience building community, as I have spent countless hours volunteering and leading organizations that help bring our residents together. I believe in becoming a part of a community, in giving back and in the value of service.

I want to be accessible for every resident, talk with anyone who cares to share an opinion, a concern or just has a question. As the growth heads our way, I don't want to lose our personal touch.

2013 ELECTION Bee Cave City Council

Paul Kline

Like most residents, I have been content to let other people do the work of city government here in Bee Cave. I readily admit that when we bought our house in Falconhead West, we didn't investigate all the zoning around our neighborhood. Like most people, I assumed things were being taken care of. We learned the hard way about the "ETJ" and what it means to have no zoning restrictions on land right next to a family subdivision. I was a strong proponent of Home Rule, despite some resistance from the City Council, and I served on the Charter Commission. My biggest disappointment, however, was finding out that, based on our population size, we could have moved to Home Rule a year ago. At least some of the problems we face today could have been avoided. What was missing? Proactive leadership. We need more people on our City Council who are concerned about the entire area, not just their neighborhood, and have the ability to get in front of problems, not wait until the worst has been done. We are less a city than a collection of disparate neighborhoods. I've heard a resident of the Uplands comment that they aren't concerned about commercial development near Falconhead West since they have HEB close to them. I've heard someone from my own neighborhood say that they thought the Field of Dreams land would be a good location for a car dealership. Too many of our residents are only concerned about their own neighborhood and not the city as a whole. I am as concerned about what happens to the Field of Dreams land as I am concerned about what gets built right next to my neighborhood because it all impacts our community. I am concerned about how many apartments are being built in our city, even though none of them are being built near my house. My wife, Jenny, and I have six kids and we want them to grow up in a great community.

I received my MBA from the University of Michigan almost 20 years ago and have since worked for several Fortune 500 companies. I have managed teams of hundreds of people and multi-million dollar budgets. I know how to get ahead of problems. We have some serious issues now and they will only get worse. Bee Cave will continue to grow. We can be proactive and protect the beauty of this area or we can be reactive and let that growth overwhelm us. I can leverage my experience to help get on the right path for our entire community.

Jack McCool

I find small city politics extremely interesting. Four years ago, when I first ran for city council there were 5 candidates running for three positions with 1 incumbent. There were no elections for the next three years as they were uncontested. This year, we once again have a field of 6 people running for 3 positions. It is my hope this means more people are sincerely interested in all aspects of governing the city.

I moved to Bee Cave 13 years ago from New Hampshire after a 30 year career in operations management. Ten years ago I started in real estate and now run my own brokerage. I have been involved with the Bee Cave city government for the past 11 years: 7 as P&Z Commissioner and 4 as City Council member. Serving on city council for me has been and is a privilege and an honor.

If reelected one of my foci will be holding new development to the bounds of the city's comprehensive plan and ordinances. Another will be to see the land we currently lease for primitive park land become permanent city primitive park. If Bee Cave becomes a Home Rule City, I will work to use new powers to annex areas of the ETJ where the city could be at risk of having unwanted land use. I run for reelection not to represent any particular neighborhood or interest group. I run for reelection to represent all the citizens of Bee Cave.

Chad Wilbanks

Chad has been a resident of Bee Cave for over 10 years. This is the place he chose to start a business and raise a family. His company - The Wilbanks Group - provides public affairs strategy for business and politics. He and his wife - Rachele - have three children attending school at the exemplary Lake Travis ISD.

Active in his community, Chad took on an active role as a youth sports coach with the Lake Travis Youth Association believing that a positive and safe sports environment for children is one of the greatest tools to help youth develop positive character traits and values. He was eventually selected by his peers to serve as President of the Lake Travis Youth Association overseeing a $1.7 million budget.

Chad was also asked to serve on the Lake Travis ISD Leadership Program at the request of the school district's superintendent. He is also a graduate of Leadership Lake Travis.

Earlier this year, Chad was recognized for his community involvement by the Lake Travis Chamber of Commerce for his commitment to youth sports, local businesses and Lake Travis ISD.

Chad is running for Bee Cave City Council because he believes he cares deeply about the history of Bee Cave, but also its promising future knowing we must first champion families and small business in our fast growing community.

His campaign platform is simple: (1) Improve our parks and expand our hike/bike trails; (2) Invest to strengthen neighborhoods; (3) Keep taxes low, and; (4) Enforce zoning ordinances to keep Bee Cave unique.

Chad is also proud to have the endorsement of Bee Cave City Councilman Bob Dorsett who stated, "Chad is the right kind of leader we need on the council."

“Dive Into Summer - Read!” at Bee Cave Public Library

Bee Cave Public Library invites everyone to “Dive into Summer—Read!” The eighth annual Summer Reading Program will kick off on June 1st when everyone is encouraged to read just for fun. Young readers are invited to keep a log of the minutes spent reading, and turn them in to earn fun prizes like beach balls and squirt guns. Children who read at least 400 minutes will have their photo taken for a personalized poster that will hang on the library wall throughout the summer. “We started making the personal posters of our top readers in 2006, to give the kids a little extra incentive to read. It was so popular we’ve continued it ever since,” commented Library Director Barbara Hathaway. “The kids get so excited to see their picture up on the wall. Pretty soon they’re dragging grandma and aunts and uncles into the library to show them their poster. The excitement builds throughout the summer as more and more posters go up, and the whole community gets a kick out of seeing them.”

FUN ACTIVITIES LURE KIDS TO THE LIBRARY

This year’s Summer Reading Program is expected to serve more than 1,000 children, and will feature book clubs for readers of all interests and reading levels, including Magic Tree House, Percy Jackson, and The Hunger Games. A complete calendar of events will be available soon on the library’s website at <http://pl.beecavetexas.gov>. “Last summer we weren’t able to offer any special activities because of the construction to repair our building,” said Hathaway, “so we’re really excited to be gearing up for a typical summer with lots of things going on every week.” Details are still being finalized, but plans include a visit from the Southwest Mobile Dairy Farm, live animal shows with Happy Tails Entertainment, a return visit from Lucas Miller, “The Singing Zoologist,” and the annual fossil fest with Pamela Owens from the Texas Memorial Museum. Local children’s author Nikki Loftin and teen author Lindsay Schiebe will do book talks and signings at the library, and craft days and other activities are planned as well.

ENCOURAGING LIFELONG LEARNING

Summer reading programs have been offered at public libraries around the country for the past century as a way to keep students from losing ground during the long break. Numerous studies have found that children who participate in summer reading programs score higher on reading achievement tests at the beginning of the next school year than students who don’t participate, and teachers report that these students return to school ready to learn. While most of the activities at the Bee Cave Library are designed for the under-12 crowd, adults and teens are encouraged to read for fun as well. Prizes for older readers will be raffled off to anyone who reads a book and fills out a “review” ticket. The more books one reads, the more chances to win gift cards to local restaurants, spas, and businesses like James Avery, Maudie’s Tex-Mex, and more.

SPONSORS NEEDED!

The Friends of Bee Cave Public Library, a 501c3 nonprofit, helps supplement the library’s budget for summer reading by soliciting donations, partnerships and sponsorships to help underwrite the costs of special activities and prizes. Major sponsors already on board this year include the Shops at the Galleria and Rigby Advanced Dental. Businesses wishing to participate at any level may contact Library Director Barbara Hathaway at 767-6624 or bhathaway@beecavetexas.gov.

Visit the library website <http://pl.beecavetexas.gov> for information about all library activities and programs, or call 767-6620. Bee Cave Public Library is located in the Hill Country Galleria, at the intersection on Highway 71, Ranch Road 620 and Bee Cave Road (FM 2244). All events are free, and open to the public. Recommended ages are listed on the website.

Calling All Artists

The Lake Travis area is rich in talented artists, but a bit short on easily accessible places to display their work for the community. The new Lake Travis Community Library now offers artists and art enthusiasts one more such facility. The library is launching a Rotating Art Program, sponsored by the Friends of the Library, to give artists space to show and sell their work.

"Not only is this a great opportunity for artists, but our patrons will also be able to interact with the artists and get acquainted with a wide variety of media and techniques, from oils and collages to watercolors and photography," said Library Director Morgan McMillian.

Individual artists or artist groups who apply to the program in April will be considered for exhibit space in the subsequent months. "We hope to have the first exhibit in June and welcome new artists to display their work," said Diane Taylor, Chair of the Committee.

The Committee, which also includes Joyce Botta and Valerie Liebl, will review the applications and select exhibitors based on guidelines in the Rotating Art Exhibit Policy recently adopted by the Library District Board. Artists can pick up copies of the policy and application forms at the Circulation Desk at the library, located at 1983 Lohmans Crossing or by visiting www.laketravislibrary.org.

"The new library is architecturally interesting, and its contemporary interior and pleasing color scheme will be a perfect backdrop for artists to showcase their work and talent," said Janet Wright, Chair of the Lakeway Arts Committee. "The community and its artists are so fortunate to have this new library in our area."

For more information about the program, please contact the Lake Travis Community Library at 263-2885 or www.laketravislibrary.org.

BLOOD DRIVE

Our next Lakeway Community Blood Drive will be held on Saturday, May 11, from 8:00 to 12:00 at the Lakeway Activity Center. A Flip Zone Takes Top Honors at State Championships

2013 USA Gymnastics Junior Olympic Trampoline and Tumbling State Championships were held in Cedar Park on April 12 & 13. Three athletes from A Flip Zone qualified to compete at the competition. The competition was the first of two (2) competitions presenting the athletes the opportunity to qualify to the National Championships. The National Championships will be held July 2 – 10, 2013 in Kansas City, Missouri.

Winning the title of State Champion on Trampoline, Tumbling and Double Mini Trampoline is Daniel Molstad. Daniel is Level 9 male ages 15 years and older. Daniel qualified to compete at Nationals on Double Mini Trampoline. Haydon Russell is State Champion on Trampoline and Double Mini Trampoline for Level 6 boys 13 & 14 years old and is 4th on Tumbling. Haydon qualified to Nationals on all three (3) of his events.

Charlotte Kendrick, Level 6 girls ages 9 & 10, just barely missed the qualifying score on all of her events. Charlotte had unfortunate falls or landings on all of her events causing her to receive deductions. The athletes must make a National Qualifying Score at either the State Meet or the Region Championships to qualify to Nationals.

Region Championships are in Fort Worth on May 17, 18 and 19. Region 3 is made up of Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas and Louisiana. There will be about 1,000 athletes at the Region Championships.

If you want to come see the great athletes train you can visit A Flip Zone at 17505 Hamilton Pool Road just behind Rocky Creek BBQ. Daniel, Haydon and Charlotte train most Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5:30 – 7:30. For more information on classes or to watch, please call 264-1070 or 826-6846. Happy Flipping!

New Technology Helps Fight Against Osteoporosis

Now Available at Lakeway Regional Medical Center

Osteoporosis is a major public health threat for an estimated 44 million Americans. At six months after a hip fracture, only 15 percent of hip fracture patients can walk across a room unaided.

Yet, most of us know little about protecting ourselves from this disease. Osteoporosis results in more than 1 million hip, spine, and wrist fractures annually. This disorder affects nearly one-half of all post menopausal women, the largest group at high risk for osteoporosis.

Research in osteoporosis, the disorder in which progressive bone loss results in increased risk of fracture, is making important new advances. A key factor in this success has been the availability of new and improved equipment to measure bone density. Using a bone densitometer, physicians can measure patient bone density and follow it over time. If the patient's bone density is low, or decreases at an abnormally fast rate, the patient may be at risk for osteoporosis. Through changes in diet, exercise habits and/or medication, further deterioration of bone can be prevented. A new bone densitometer was recently installed at Lakeway Regional Medical Center.

"The Lunar bone densitometer measures the density of the spine, hip, and forearm, which are the most frequent sites of fracture," explained Dr. Kevin Barker.

"In just 30 seconds, this highly precise densitometer helps us to identify osteoporosis risk. It can also aid in determining the effects of osteoporosis treatment."

"Recent research findings clarify the nature of the disease and demonstrate the effectiveness of new treatments. New diagnostic devices, such as the GE Healthcare Lunar bone densitometer, assist in the early detection and treatment of osteoporosis," said Dr. Kevin Barker. Dr. Kevin Barker encourages individuals to visit the facility and be evaluated for a bone density examination. "There is no special preparation involved for the patient. The exam is very brief and is a comfortable procedure for the patient," he/she said.

You're very excited — your mom and dad promised to take you on a fun camping trip this year. Or maybe your scout group is gearing up for an awesome canoe trip. Enjoying the beauty and nature of the woods is fun — if you are careful. Here are some tips to keep you safe.

PACKING BASICS

Before you leave, pack these few important things to make your trip more comfortable and safe:

- map of the area
- compass or GPS (learn how to use it beforehand)
- cell phone (though you can't be sure it will work in remote areas)
- whistle
- bottled water and food
- sleeping bag
- flashlight with extra batteries
- sunscreen and sunglasses
- waterproof matches (for an adult to bring)
- first-aid kit with gauze pads, adhesive bandages, tape, tweezers, and antiseptic
- waterproof tent (set it up beforehand to practice)
- warm clothing, clean socks, and rain gear

INTO THE WOODS

Staying safe in the woods means using common sense. That means being aware of your surroundings and always camping with an adult. Never go into the woods by yourself. Some things you need to be careful of while you're camping are insects, poison ivy, extreme hot or cold temperatures, rain or snow, and areas where you could trip or fall.

BUGS

If insects bug you, ask an adult to set up camp away from the water and build a small fire. The water attracts bugs, and the smoke from the fire will keep most of the bugs away. Another thing you can do is to remember to keep the tent door zipped at all times, even if you're just going in or out for a minute. Also, turn off your flashlight before you enter your tent because insects such as moths are attracted to the light and will follow you.

Always check for ticks at the end of the day when you've been in the woods. Ticks can carry disease and germs. Some ticks are tiny, like the size of the head of a pin! You'll want an adult to help you inspect your body for ticks. Check behind your knees and ears, under your arms, and in your groin — that's where your legs meet your abdomen, or belly area. If you're camping with a pet, have an adult check your pet for ticks, too — dogs and cats can pick up ticks in their fur even more easily than humans. If you do find a tick, it needs to be removed. Get an adult to help you.

POISON IVY

Poison ivy is a plant that can cause an itchy skin rash in some people. Its leaves grow in groups of three, but the plant can still be hard to spot. If you accidentally touch poison ivy, wash the area with soap and water as soon as possible. The oil from the poison ivy plant can spread on clothes or even your dog. To try to prevent a poison ivy rash, there are products you can apply to your skin before going into the woods. Stores that sell outdoor equipment and sporting goods may carry them.

STAYING SAFE OUTDOORS

Your Campsite

Roasting marshmallows and singing songs by an open fire are favorite camping activities. Adults, not kids, should start campfires. Adults also need to watch the fires and make sure they are out when you're done. Never leave a fire without anyone to watch it. Don't forget to put out your fire by dumping water or shoveling dirt on it when you sleep or leave your campsite. Feel the ground around the area where the fire was to make sure it isn't warm.

Your Food and Water

When you're exploring outdoors, eat or drink something only if an adult says it is safe. Even if streams or lakes look crystal clear, they could contain germs and the water may not be safe to drink. Bring bottled water to drink. Likewise, never eat wild berries. Some are poisonous and it may be tough to know which are safe. Good snacks for the outdoors include fruit, trail mix, crackers, granola bars, bread, and peanut butter.

Your Clothing

Wearing layers is a good idea when you're outdoors. That way, you can take off a layer or two if you get too warm. Wear comfortable boots when hiking so your ankles are supported and you don't get blisters. Keep your arms and legs covered while hiking to avoid ticks and insect bites and wear knee-high boots and long pants when you are in an area with snakes. Make sure to take rain gear, such as ponchos and waterproof jackets, to keep you dry if an unexpected shower occurs.

Watch Out for Wildlife

Although animals are cute to look at, wild animals are best enjoyed from far away. Don't go near or try to feed a strange animal. It's better to enjoy these animals at the zoo, in books, or on the Internet. To keep animals such as bears or wolves away from your campsite, keep it clean. Food and anything else an animal might smell must be packed away. In fact some campers put all their food, even candy bars, in a bag (called a "Bear Bag") and hang it from a tree branch away from the campsite. If they can smell it, the animals will be led away from where the campers are.

What if You Get Lost?

Stick with your group when you're in the woods. Carry a whistle and blow it if you get separated from the group. If you have a cell phone and it's working, use it to make contact with your group. If you do get lost, wait in a safe, sheltered place for an adult to find you. The sooner you're found, the sooner you can go back to having fun in the great outdoors!
