MUD BATH

Friends and neighbors, once again we get together on these pages to commiserate about local doings. First of all, you have no doubt seen the large building going in next to McDonalds on 249. Scuttlebutt has it that it's a medical emergency center being built by Emerus. You'll recognize that name as the much smaller clinic that is a few years old just up the street. Apparently it has been so successful that the group has decided a much bigger location will better meet the needs of the area. Second, I'd like to take a minute of your time to talk about traffic lights again. As you've all noticed our intersections at Eldridge and Northpointe Blvd. as well as Northpointe Blvd. at Northpointe Terrace are getting more congested by the minute. The MUD board has received numerous requests to do something about putting in traffic lights. Unfortunately, your extremely concerned MUD directors are completely helpless in this matter. This can only be addressed by Harris County Precinct 4 and they can be made aware of the need by filling out an online request form at the following website: <http://www.hcp4.net/cad/worf.htm>. My recommendation is to always stress the need for safety at our intersections when requesting same. It may take a while but if we press a concerted effort and get a substantial volume of requests it will get their attention. And finally, summer is here...please be careful around the club area during this time of year. Not only do we have swim meets with kids scattered about, we have a substantially increased amount

PET WASTE DISPOSAL

There has been a majority of VNP neighbors with growing concerns of the pet waste being left in their yards by dog walkers. Some homeowners are getting letters from their yard service telling them to pick up the waste in the yard before they will mow or they will charge an extra $15 for having to clean it up because the mower hits it and they get sprayed with it. There are several reasons leaving behind pet waste is not a good idea besides the obvious. This goes for those walking your dogs along the lakes with NO SIDEWALKS as well as other common areas in the community.

- It is estimated that a single gram of dog waste can contain 23 million fecal coli-form bacteria;
- It pollutes our groundwater and is potentially harmful to our ecosystem;
- It attracts disease-carrying pests and flies. Rats feed on dog feces. Enough said! And, of course, flies are not only a nuisance but can transmit diseases also;
- It could endanger the health of your family, particularly young children;
- Diseases and parasites can easily be transmitted to other pets through feces;

- Odor is another huge reason for clearing dog poop. Not only is the smell offensive to you, it could also present a problem with your neighbors if left for any amount of time;
- It should NEVER be used as garden compost as both dog and cat waste can carry many parasites, even in "healthy" pets;
- It isn't good fertilizer for your lawn. Unlike cow manure, pet waste is protein based which makes it toxic to your grass (large, brown bare patches?);
- It's the law and if you are caught by proof of photo you will be fined!

Roundworms are the most common type of parasite found in pets. They are almost always found in puppies that have yet to be vaccinated and often have the unpleasant habit of eating other dogs' poop. However, even adult dogs and cats can get roundworm and should be de-wormed regularly. If your pet's poop looks like spaghetti, he more than likely has roundworm. Other symptoms include vomiting and diarrhea. Roundworm can also infect humans.

Tapeworms are transmitted to dogs and cats in a couple of different ways depending on the type of tapeworm. One variety of tapeworm is transmitted by fleas (fleas think tapeworm eggs are real tasty!), while another is spread by pets eating wildlife or rodents infested with tapeworms or fleas. It is important that your dog or cat be treated promptly if you discover these in his poop. Tapeworms can also be transmitted to humans through direct contact with your pet and are extremely hazardous.

Hookworms are blood suckers and are easily transmitted through the pads of a dog's feet and the skin on his belly by being picked up from infected soil. Hookworm is one of the classical internal parasites infecting puppies and can even be transmitted to pups still in the womb.

Coccidia are one-celled parasites that multiply in the intestinal tracts of dogs and cats and are spread through fecal matter. The primary sign of an animal suffering with coccidiosis is diarrhea which can be mild to severe depending on the level of infection. Blood and mucus may be present, especially in advanced cases. Severely affected animals may also vomit, lose their appetite, become dehydrated, and in some instances, die from the disease.

Giardia is another one-celled parasite that lives in soil, food and water. It may also be on surfaces that have been contaminated with waste. It can cause diarrhea but usually the infected animal will not lose its appetite, but they may lose weight. The feces is often abnormal, pale in color, has a bad odor, and appears greasy. Small children can be at risk as they have a tendency to place objects in their mouth that may have come in contact with contaminated soil, surfaces or water.

Parvovirus is a killer for most dogs and is transmitted from dog to dog through physical contact and contact with feces. This virus is very hardy and can live in the environment and remain contagious for up to 12 months. It is typically more severe in puppies. The symptoms include extreme lethargy, very pale gums, vomiting, fever and diarrhea.

Toxoplasmosis is a protozoan parasite that may be transmitted from cats to humans which can cause birth defects. A woman infected during pregnancy may have symptoms that include headaches, muscle aches and lymph node enlargement.

Heartworms although not transmitted through feces can be deadly. They are transmitted through mosquitoes and if left untreated can kill your dog. Some of the symptoms are coughing, weight loss, fainting and labored breathing. The parasites make their way to your dog's heart and thrive until heart functions are totally blocked, leading to heart failure and death.

JUNE GARDENING TIPS

- June is the beginning of the hurricane season. Remove dead branches and dead trees before a storm is forecast. Also, do you have any leaning trees that could be at risk from the prolonged rain of a hurricane causing them to topple?
- Keep azaleas well watered. They're setting next year's flowers now.
- Water All planting areas deeply but infrequently during dry periods to force roots to grow downward instead of sideways during dry periods.
- If you have any professional tree removal done, make sure the company is insured. It is wise to be present when tree pruning is done.
- Fertilize waterlilies every 2 weeks. Cut off the dead flowers. Watch the water level in ponds and replenish when the level drops.
- Compost and earthworms are wonderful additions to the garden at anytime.
- Drought tolerant plants bloom less when they are watered too much.

PEST CONTROL:

- Scale insects, including mealybugs: Spray plant oil products or mound drench products.
- Black spot on roses, mildew, and other fungi: Spray Garrett Juice Plus, garlic tea or diluted skim milk and drench the soil with garlic tea or apply dry granulated garlic See home page of DirtDoctor.com for the entire Organic Rose Program. Spray Plant Wash.
- Weeds: Hand remove and work on improving soil health. Spot spray vinegar – based products.
- Lace bugs, elm leaf beetles green June bugs, etc. Spray garlic pepper tea, summer-weight horticultural oil, plant oil products or mound drench products containing orange oil. Spinosad products will also work on this and other insect pests.

SECOND MAJOR FERTILIZATION OF THE YEAR

- All planting areas with organic fertilizer. This should be the second major fertilization of the year. Use about 20 lbs. of fertilizer per 1,000 sq. ft. To give plants an extra boosts, use fish meal or corn gluten meal. Add mycorrhizal products such as Alpha Bio Systems.
- Spray all plantings and lawns with Garrett Juice Plus every 2 weeks
