HOA ANNOUNCEMENTS

Submitted by Karen Hibpsman, CCHOA Manager

VOTE!

Please take a moment to vote this year in the CCHOA Board of Directors Election. We need a 10% quorum in order to host the annual meeting in March.

CIRCLE C HOA ANNUAL MEETING & BOARD ELECTION

The Nominating Committee is accepting nominations through January 10, 2014 for the two open board seats (election to be held at the Annual Meeting, March 5, 2014 at the Circle C Community Center). You can download a Candidate Questionnaire from the News Section of the Circle C Website, www.circlecranch.info

The Annual Meeting and Elections will be held March 5, 2014 at the Circle C Community Center. Your ballot and proxy will be printed on the back side of the first 2014 CCHOA dues assessment invoice (which is mailed Feb 1st and due March 1st).

The Nominating Committee will host a Candidate Forum in February, date to be determined and posted on the website and in the February newsletter.

ANNUAL REPORT TO THE MEMBERSHIP

The 2013 Annual Report to the membership from the Board of Directors will be printed in the March newsletter. A copy will also be posted on our website and available in the HOA office.

HOLIDAY LIGHTING CONTEST WINNERS

Congratulations to our winners of the holiday lighting contest!!! Your homes were beautifully decorated; thank you for bringing so much holiday cheer to the neighborhood.

After many years, 2013 will be the last year of the holiday lighting contest for Circle C. Although there are many, many outstanding, stunning, over-the-top displays in the neighborhood, fewer and fewer homes participate in the contest. We believe our residents decorate simply to celebrate the joy of the season and to spread the cheer among their neighbors, without thought of the contest.

Moving forward, every December, we will take calls and compile a list by area of homes that should be seen and enjoyed. Please help us spread the joy by letting us know when you see a home we should add to the list!

ADULT HOLIDAY & CASINO PARTY... WHAT A GREAT TIME!!

The Adult Holiday & Casino Party on December 14, 2013 was such a huge success. From the delicious food to the awesome singing on the karaoke, I think it's safe to say that everyone had a great time! Thank you to all of those that came out and celebrated the holidays with us.

We also wanted to send out a huge thank you to all the local businesses that donated awesome door prizes to help make this event a huge success! Thank you to:

HOLIDAY LIGHTS

Holiday decorations should comply with the schedule listed in the Declaration of Covenants, Conditions, and Restrictions –all decorations, including lights, must be down by January 15, 2014.

RENT THE CIRCLE C COMMUNITY CENTER

The Circle C Community Center isn't only available for birthday parties, baby showers, and anniversary parties. Do you need space to teach your yoga class, boot camp, or art class, insurance seminar or real estate training? A conference room for a business meeting for 10 or less? Whatever it is, you can book your long-term rental at the Circle C Community Center. The Community Center is a versatile space to fit your every need, and it's right here in your neighborhood! If you are interested, please contact Ashley at ashley@circlecranch.info or 288-8663.

DEED RESTRICTIONS

As reported in each month's newsletter, the HOA staff drives at least two sections of the neighborhood per month to note violations of the Declaration of Covenants, Conditions and Restrictions. These commonly include: front yard landscape maintenance (mowing, edging, free of weeds), home maintenance (paint, screens, siding) and recreational vehicles (boats, RV's, trailers) parked in the driveway. The HOA is required by state law to notify owners in writing via certified mail and allow for the homeowner to request a hearing before the board of directors. If you receive a letter, please contact us at the HOA office and let us know your individual situation. We would like to work with you to bring your home into compliance. If you would like to report a violation, you can do so via our website at www.circlecranch.info.

DEED RESTRICTION TIP OF THE MONTH

The Declaration of Covenants, Conditions and Restrictions for the Circle C Ranch Subdivision are lengthy to read through. Each month we will highlight and summarize one section that most applies to current issues and is a responsibility of home ownership in Circle C. Article VI, Section 1 is Duty of Maintenance. The required maintenance of Circle C homeowners includes, but is not limited to, the following: Prompt removal of all litter, trash, dead vegetation, refuse and waste; keeping exterior lighting facilities in working order; keeping driveways in good repair (meaning clean, free of weeds in the seams, power washed if needed, and clean and clear of debris); repair of exterior damages to improvements (including frayed and discolored window screens, fences, paint, front doors, trim, etc.). Please keep Circle C a beautiful place to live by ensuring that the above listed items are in good repair, so you can avoid receiving a deed restriction violation letter from the Association.

AUSTIN CITY CODE OF THE MONTH

This month, with most leaves off the trees, we highlight City of Austin Code 10-5-43, which addresses litter removal. Many property owners and occupants fail to remove fallen leaves and debris from the curb line and street, detracting from the beauty of Circle C. This City code requires property owners and occupants to remove litter from one-half of the street adjacent to the owner or occupant's property. This debris must be disposed of properly. It is against the law to sweep or blow debris into the sewer system. Please do your part by keeping the street and curb line in front of your home clean.

BARKING DOGS

The Association receives many calls from owners regarding barking dogs. We encourage neighbors to talk to neighbors if this is an issue; however, the Association also sends out Cooperative Letters alerting owners when this is reported. Keep in mind – the Association cannot verify barking dogs; we are relying on information reported from a third party, so if you are the one making the complaint, please be as specific as possible. If the barking continues after the Cooperative Letter is sent, the neighbor making the complaint may file an official complaint with the City of Austin.

If you have a pet, take a moment to consider whether they are a nuisance to your neighbors and modify the routine. Perhaps ask your neighbors if your dog(s) barking is ever a problem.

Dogs are going to bark, but when it's excessive or early in the morning or late at night, be mindful and be a good neighbor.

YARD CARE TIPS

for the Winter Months

Submitted by Susan Hoover

Living in Central Texas, we don't see "typical" winter weather like our friends from the North do although stable winter weather patterns do still exist. Dropping temps signal the end of outdoor chores for many people but there are things still to be done to protect our yards and landscapes as well as prepare them for Spring. This year in particular we have had a "real" Fall with trees turning colors rather than just drying up. Our October rains assisted with this!!

Container plants should be moved away from areas of wind exposure, especially northern winds or taken inside. Move them to an area with overhead cover (patios, under large trees). One trick you can use during a hard freeze is to group the plants together, line out some of your incandescent mini Christmas lights and cover with a sheet Or you can keep them near your garage to be quickly pulled inside before a freeze. If space and good lighting conditions permit, plants can be moved indoors as well.

Think about covering less cold-tolerant plants and shrubs during a freeze. Burlap, blankets, newspapers etc. are all good options. Avoid using plastic as it holds little heat overnight and too much heat during sunny days. Of course, your beds should be mulched to 2" to 3" hardwood mulch.

Stay on top of winter weeds in your beds; this will save you a lot of work in the spring. Generally in Texas you can trim back your perennials beginning at the end of January to prepare for Spring growth. Our last official freeze date is March 11, however with crazy Central Texas weather you can never predict for sure. This year the freezing weather came early with hard freezes over Thanksgiving and the first week of December.

Your lawn will still need water to keep from dying during the winter months (as do your plants!). Some grasses don't go completely dormant so it is important that they still receive water during drier and warmer periods. We are still under City of Austin Stage 2 Watering Regulations, so water on your designated water day, and never more than once a week. In the winter, the standard recommendation is about 1 inch per month if it is not raining. In Circle C, we turn the water off in all areas except anything that was newly planted in the fall as well as newly planted trees. Generally, the rain takes care of the amount of needed water.

Preventing excessive foot traffic on lawns is important when the grass is dormant and in it's most fragile state. And as grass comes back alive at the onset of spring new growth is delicate so avoid disturbing these vulnerable areas of growth as well. Keep lawns free of unnecessary plant debris and wayward trash.

Finally, the end of winter is a good time to do any needed maintenance to mowers and other lawn care tools. Our winters are short and lawn care season will be back before we know it!

Update on the Circle C Commons Areas

Despite a big onset of Fall weather (rain, rain, rain in October and early November) and big freezing weather in November and December Circle C Landscape was able to complete a number of significant landscape improvements before the end of the year. Many of the improvements involved upgrading irrigation to drip irrigation throughout the neighborhood. Circle C North has been converted almost entirely to drip, and the new improvements along LaCrosse near Park West were done with drip irrigation as well. Shrubs and beds along Dahlgreen were also converted during the fall. The big area between the Park West gates on LaCrosse was completely replanted and we are looking forward to seeing this area in the Spring. Rock work on median tips and in locations that are not suitable for irrigation was also finished.

We had quite a bit of clean up in November and December as the trees shed their leaves more slowly this year. In addition shrub trimming was completed before the end of the year, wildflower and natural areas were weed-eated, and bed maintenance occurred. The certified arborist for the CCHOA cleared tree limbs from the walls along LaCrosse, provided health prunes in this area, removed dead trees and also cleaned up the trees along South Bay. We are looking forward to the Spring with more improvements to come!!

TENNIS TIPS

By USPTA/PTR Master Professional
Fernando Velasco

How to execute The Two Handed Backhand Lob

In previous newsletters, I offered tips on how to hit the forehand groundstroke, the two-handed backhand, the one-handed backhand, the forehand volley, the two handed backhand volley, the serve, the forehand half-volley, the one-handed backhand volley, the overhead “smash”, the forehand service return, the backhand service return, the forehand high volley approach shot, the two handed high volley approach shot, the one-handed high volley approach shot, and the forehand lob.

In this issue, I will offer instructions on how to execute the Two Handed Backhand Lob. This shot is used when a player is forced to retrieve a ball that is hit deep to the backhand side of the player, and the opponent is either charging to the net or staying far back. The player hitting the lob is looking for “air time” to regain balance and court space. This ball should be hit high enough so the players at the net cannot reach and “slam” the ball down, or force the opponent at the base line to retrieve back. In the illustrations, Marimel Ansdell, a Member of the Grey Rock Tennis Club, shows the proper technique to execute this stroke.

Step 1: The Back Swing: When Marimel is forced deep into the backhand side and realizes that she has to hit a defensive lob, she pivots to the left and gets her racket back early. Notice that the head of the

Step 2: The Point of Contact: Marimel is now ready to hit the ball. Her eyes are now focused on the point of contact and the face of the racket is tilted at a 45 degree angle in order to create height and depth on her lob. Her goal is to keep her head still and not start looking up to her opponent or to the other side of the court.

Step 3: The Follow Through: The success of a deep lob is the follow through. Marimel’s left wrist is still “laid back” and her shoulder is lifting the racket above her head. Her right hand is holding the racket slightly, but still in control of the racket.

Step 4: The Finish: In order to create a natural top spin on the lob, Marimel is now finishing her stroke with the racket behind her right ear. This will make the ball bounce higher and/or force the opponent to hit a tennis ball that is still rotating on the air.

Step 5: The Shuffle Back: Once Marimel finishes the stroke, her goal is to either move forward toward the net top to hit an overhead, or to shuffle back to the middle of the court in order to drive the next ball back to the opponent. In this caption, she moved back to the center of the court waiting for the opponent’s shot to come back.

FUNGUS GNATS

Submitted by Wizzie Brown

Fungus gnat adults are small, black, long-legged flies with long antennae. Most adults are about 1/16 an inch but some can get up to 1/2 an inch. They are weak fliers and generally remain near potted plants, growing media, foliage or leaf litter.

Larvae, or immatures, have a black head capsule and long whitish body without legs. They feed on organic matter such as mulch, compost, grass clippings, plant roots and fungi. When conditions are very moist, fungus gnat larvae can become abundant and may leave slime trails on media that looks similar to trails left by snails or slugs.

While these gnats are a nuisance they are fairly easy to manage. To manage fungus gnat populations, work on reducing excessively moist conditions. Avoid overwatering and make sure that there is good drainage. The surface of container soil should be allowed to dry before watering again.

In homes, insecticides are rarely needed to manage fungus gnats.

If they are needed, Bacillus thuringiensis var. israelensis or the nematode Steinernema feltiae can be applied in containers to control larvae. Either spray on the media or apply as a soil drench. Biologicals work best when they are applied early in an infestation. If a population is already large, they may not provide the control desired.

Call Kevin Scragg, your Circle C neighbor, at (512) 529-8763 to see any home on the market and for all leases!

John Squires and the Squires Team sell scores of homes in Circle C Ranch, but they also work in many other areas all over Austin. Many sellers in Circle C want to "move-up" or "move-down" to other areas of Austin, such as Lakeway, Westlake, Rimrock, Dripping Springs, etc. Some move for the school systems and some move to retire here or completely out of state. Below are 8 homes John has either sold or has placed buyers under contract in the last month in different areas all around Austin. John has lived in Austin since 1960 so he knows the area. Please allow him to help you with all of your real estate needs. Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays!

Right out of the blue!
John took our listing
Keeping all parties in the know
He never missed a beat
In the sales transaction flow!

So my advice to you all
For your real estate needs
John Squires is your man
For selling or buying deeds!
As I end my little poem
Full of rhyme and full of reason
With John Squires on your team
You'll have a prosperous Season!

GOOD NEIGHBORS CAN BE GREAT FOR STRESS LEVELS

Do you live in a neighborhood where you feel safe and connected to others, or do you feel overcrowded, threatened, and otherwise unsafe in your surroundings? This, and other aspects of neighborhood life, can impact both your level of happiness and stress.

Socializing: With our busy schedules, we don't always see friends as often as we'd like. For a bit of socializing that takes only minutes out of your day, it's nice to stop and chat with people for a few minutes on your way out to your car. And the more people you have available for shared social support, the better, generally speaking.

Pooled Resources: I know people in some more-friendly neighborhoods who share dinners, minimizing the effort it takes to cook. Others trade fruit from their trees. A neighbor who borrows a few eggs may come back with a plate of cookies that the eggs helped create. Knowing your neighbors increases everyone's ability to share.

Security: Knowing the people around you can bring a sense of security. If you need something—whether it's a cup of sugar when you're baking cookies, or someone to call the police if they see someone lurking outside your home—it's nice to know you can depend on those around you and they can depend on you.

Home Pride: Knowing the people who live around you provides a strengthened sense of pride in your home and neighborhood.

Coming home just feels nicer. While you may not be able to change the neighborhood in which you live, you can change the experience you have in your own neighborhood by getting more involved with those around you and taking pride in the area in which you live. The following are some ideas and resources that can help you to feel more at home in your neighborhood:

Get Out More: If you live in a generally safe area, I highly recommend taking a morning or evening walk. It's a great stress reliever that also allows you to get to know many of your neighbors, get an understanding of who lives where, and feel more at home in your surroundings.

Smile: It's simple enough, but if you're not in the habit of smiling and giving a friendly hello to the people you encounter in your neighborhood, it's a good habit to start. While not everyone will return the friendliness immediately, it's a quick way to get to know people and build relationships, even if you've lived close for years and haven't really said much to one another.

Talk To Your Elders: The more veteran members of the neighborhood often have the inside scoop on the neighborhood. You may be surprised at how much you can learn if you stop to take the time to talk to the sweet old lady at the end of the block.
