River Place Country Club Hosts Yuletide Treasures Shopping Event

River Place Country Club held their annual holiday shopping event on December 5th and December 6th. Yuletide Treasures, now in it's 8th year, featured over 40 local vendors. Wares ranging from hand knit scarves, handmade birdfeeders and birdhouses to fine jewelry were on display. Shoppers had a plethora of beautiful and unique items to choose from.

"I've done this for probably 6 or 7 years, actually," said Julia Medick of Julia's Gems. "The people here are wonderful. They treat the vendors well and do a lot to bring people here. There is lots of good shopping and many different vendors," Medick added.

Charlene Chirum and her daughter, Breanne, participated in Yuletide Treasures for the first time this year. Chirum owns Bare Trees Boutique, which features fine dresses and other women's garments. "I am a retired United States Postal Service Business Solutions Specialist, so this is different and fun for me." Chirum lives nearby and decided to participate based on the great reputation of this community event.

Scarves By Theresa, owned by Theresa Griffin of Dallas, has been a vendor at this event for 6 years now. "This community of shoppers is trendy, so I can add new items. There is a great sense of community here, and it is a wonderful place to feature my hand knit items." Griffin, and her niece, Ann Diaz look forward to the event each year.

Chelsea Bumgarner, of South Austin Galleries, owned by Jennifer and Joseph Worth, was also excited to be represented at the event.

GOOD NEIGHBORS CAN BE GREAT FOR STRESS LEVELS

Do you live in a neighborhood where you feel safe and connected to others, or do you feel overcrowded, threatened, and otherwise unsafe in your surroundings? This, and other aspects of neighborhood life, can impact both your level of happiness and stress.

Socializing: With our busy schedules, we don't always see friends as often as we'd like. For a bit of socializing that takes only minutes out of your day, it's nice to stop and chat with people for a few minutes on your way out to your car. And the more people you have available for shared social support, the better, generally speaking.

Pooled Resources: I know people in some more-friendly neighborhoods who share dinners, minimizing the effort it takes to cook. Others trade fruit from their trees. A neighbor who borrows a few eggs may come back with a plate of cookies that the eggs helped create. Knowing your neighbors increases everyone's ability to share.

Security: Knowing the people around you can bring a sense of security. If you need something—whether it's a cup of sugar when you're baking cookies, or someone to call the police if they see someone lurking outside your home—it's nice to know you can depend on those around you and they can depend on you.

Home Pride: Knowing the people who live around you provides a strengthened sense of pride in your home and neighborhood.

Coming home just feels nicer. While you may not be able to change the neighborhood in which you live, you can change the experience you have in your own neighborhood by getting more involved with those around you and taking pride in the area in which you live. The following are some ideas and resources that can help you to feel more at home in your neighborhood:

Get Out More: If you live in a generally safe area, I highly recommend taking a morning or evening walk. It's a great stress reliever that also allows you to get to know many of your neighbors, get an understanding of who lives where, and feel more at home in your surroundings.

Smile: It's simple enough, but if you're not in the habit of smiling and giving a friendly hello to the people you encounter in your neighborhood, it's a good habit to start. While not everyone will return the friendliness immediately, it's a quick way to get to know people and build relationships, even if you've lived close for years and haven't really said much to one another.

Talk To Your Elders: The more veteran members of the neighborhood often have the inside scoop on the neighborhood. You may be surprised at how much you can learn if you stop to take the time to talk to the sweet old lady at the end of the block.

A FOCUS ON RESOLUTIONS

By: Concentra Urgent Care

The New Year is a great time to make healthy lifestyle changes. According to the US Department of Health and Human Services, the most common resolutions focus on losing weight, getting fit, quitting smoking, and reducing stress. These are important themes that can reduce your risk of disease. Here are ways you can achieve your goals this year.

LOSING WEIGHT

A weight loss of five to seven percent of your body weight can improve your health and quality of life. It can also help prevent weight-related health problems, like diabetes. Changing your eating habits and increasing your physical activity are keys to successful weight loss and help to maintain optimal weight for the rest of your life. Create a plan for healthy eating and increased physical activity, while taking in fewer calories than you use. Your healthy eating plan should include:

- Taking into account foods you like and dislike
- A focus on fresh fruits, vegetables, and whole grains
- Consuming fat-free or low-fat dairy products such as yogurt, cheese, and milk
- Protein sources such as lean meats, poultry, fish, beans, eggs, and nuts
- Avoiding saturated and trans fats such as animal fat, butter, and hydrogenated oils

- Staying away from foods high in sodium and added sugars

GETTING FIT

Regular physical activity for at least 30 minutes each day, or broken up into several shorter periods of 20, 15, or 10 minutes, can help you lose weight, keep it off, and stay fit. It can also improve your energy and mood and lower your risk for heart disease, diabetes, and some cancers. Try some of these physical activities:

- Walking (15-minute miles or 4 miles per hour)
- Biking
- Tennis
- Aerobic exercise classes (step aerobics, kickboxing, dancing)
- Yard work or house cleaning (gardening, raking, mopping, vacuuming)

Taking the first step can be the hardest part. Start slowly, at a level that is comfortable for you and add activity as you go along. Sometimes, it helps to have a friend or activity buddy when you start out. It is recommended that adults get at least two and a half hours of moderate physical activity each week. Strengthening activities, such as pushups, sit-ups, or lifting weights, at least two days per week are also encouraged.

BAG LADIES

NatureWatch
by Jim and Lynne Weber

While winter is the time of year when we hang man-made ornaments on our trees and shrubs to commemorate the holiday season, it is also the time of year when nature-made ornaments are most apparent in the landscape. These ornaments are as widely unique as snowflakes, and their appearance varies with the bits and pieces of leaves, twigs, and bark fragments woven into silken bags in a shingle-like fashion. They reveal themselves on the bare branches and limbs in winter, and they are created by female bagworms.

Members of the Psychidae family, there are about 1,350 species of bagworms worldwide, also commonly known as bagworm moths or bagmoths. Although different bagworm species vary slightly in habits and life cycle, bagworms spend the winter months in the egg stage sealed within the bags produced by females the previous fall. In late May to early June, very tiny caterpillars hatch, produce a silken strand by which the wind can carry them to new foliage (called 'ballooning'), and construct a tiny conical bag carried upright with them as they move. During leaf-feeding, the caterpillars emerge from the top of the bag and hang onto the host plant with their legs, sometimes aided with a silken thread. The bottom of the bag remains open to allow fecal material (called 'frass') to pass out of the bag.

By August or September, fully grown caterpillars have developed larger bags, and pupate within them. Seven to 10 days later, the pupae of the male moths work their way out of the bottom of the bag, and emerge from their pupal skin. These males have half-inch long clear wings, feathery antennae, hairy black bodies, and they spend their time seeking out a female to mate. Females, on the other hand, are immobile and stay in the larval stage, do not develop into moths, and remain inside the bags. After mating, the females produce a clutch of 500 to 1000 eggs inside their bodies and then die.

Bags vary in size, up to 2 inches long and about a half inch wide, and are spindle-shaped. They can be quite ornamental, covered in a somewhat patterned array of bits and pieces of plant matter. A wide range of broadleaf and evergreen trees and shrubs serve as hosts for bagworm species, including juniper, cedar elm, bald cypress, live oak, persimmon, sumac, sycamore, willow, yaupon, and native fruit and nut trees. Since these bags are composed of silk and plant materials, they are naturally camouflaged from predators such as birds and other insects. While birds can eat the egg-laden bodies of female bagworms after they have died, the eggs are very hard-shelled and can pass through the bird's digestive system unharmed. This represents yet another way to disperse bagworm species over a wide-ranging area, and helps in creating a whole new generation of bag ladies!

Heart Attack or Heartburn, EVERY Minute Matters.

When an emergency arises, it's comforting to know that immediate first-rate care is right around the corner at Lakeway Regional Medical Center. What most distinguishes our Emergency Department is the level of comprehensive attention we provide to patients just minutes after they walk through the door. Each patient is immediately brought into an exam room. Patients experience advanced clinical care and state-of-the-art treatment, delivered with compassion.
