SUMMER MOVIE SERIES

Meatballs will rain and LEGOs will come to life this summer at the City of Lakeway's Movies in the Park and Dive-In Movies series. The annual series of family-friendly flicks will alternate Friday nights June 6-Aug. 8.

"Movies in the Park and Dive-In Movies are among our most popular offerings," said Andra Dearing, Lakeway Parks and Recreation director. "You can't beat the price and the short drive from your home to enjoy the fun on the big screen."

Movies in the Park will roar to life at Lakeway City Park, 502 Hurst Creek Road, with Monsters University on June 6 and continue with Dr. Seuss' The Lorax on June 20, Super Buddies on July 11, Cloudy with a Chance of Meatballs on July 25 and The Nut Job on Aug. 8. All movies will begin about dusk at 8:45 p.m. Free popcorn and other treats will be available for purchase. Bring a blanket or lawn chair to set up at our 'Theater Under the Stars.' So that everyone may see the screen, please set out blankets in the middle and place lawn chairs to the outside.

Also, organizers request that guests put blinking or glowing items under their blankets while the films are being shown. Please, do not bring dogs to this event.

For information about Movies in the Park, please call 512-314-7530. Dive-In Movies always make a splash at Lakeway Swim Center, 3103 Lakeway Blvd. Swimming is allowed during the movies, which all begin at dusk at about 8:45 p.m.

Take the plunge with Despicable Me 2 on June 13, and chill out with Frozen on June 27. Teen Beach Movie hits the scene July 18, and The LEGO Movie wraps up the series Aug. 1.

The pool area will be cleared at 8 p.m., and anyone wishing to see the movie will be charged $3 to be let back in at 8:30 p.m. to see it. For information about Dive-In Movies, please call 512-261-3000.

RETIRE BETTER - A LIFETIME OF INCOME

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

WITH JOSH STIVERS

Q: What is the best investment allocation with the stock market at record highs?

A: We are currently sitting in a very nice position. Most people's investment and retirement accounts are boasting the highest values they have ever seen. Market volatility is at a very low level and there is a shift from growth to value stock investing that is helping to level things out even further. With that said, the pressure to make wise decisions concerning the future of your investment portfolio has never been higher.

To answer the question regarding the best allocation for our current market, there are several aspects we need to take into consideration.

First of all, what is your long term objective? Many of the clients we met with this year already achieved their growth objective well ahead of schedule due to the market run up. It is important that their current value be protected from any future volatility. The key here is to not get too greedy and begin to think that we are guaranteed that markets will remain at their current levels. Often, it makes sense to take a portion of the profits off the table. Once the profits are off the table, it is essential that they be reinvested in a conservative and safe manner.

Next, we need to take into account where we believe markets are heading. The last time that market volatility was this low was in 2006 & 2007 right before the financial crisis. I am not saying that we are about to see another crisis of that magnitude, but we have to be cautious whenever we see potential complacency slipping into investor decisions. Taking investment positions that shield from downside risk are important at a time like this.

One of the keys here is that investors do not end up buying high and selling lower. The old adage "buy high, sell low" still applies. This is not the time to run out and jump on the equities bandwagon and then find out that everyone else is getting off. Many institutional investors already harvested profits during this time which can make it difficult for individual investors to make educated stock picks. It is best to utilize index funds and ETFs that allow for broader exposure to sectors that are poised for growth.

Sometimes, investors can get so used to looking at their current portfolio that they forget there are other strategies to choose from. During times like this when equity markets are so high, it makes sense to consider alternative investment strategies that are driven by non-correlated factors. Often, you can receive a very healthy dividend yield without price volatility. This is a great place to reinvest the profits you have the opportunity to cash in on.

Hill Country Landscapes Inspire City Hall Gallery Exhibit

Oils by Tina, an exhibit of Tina Becker's oil paintings of sunsets, Texas landscapes and wildflowers, will be on display at Lakeway City Hall Art Gallery from June 19 through July 31.

The art gallery is open from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays at Lakeway City Hall, 1102 Lohmans Crossing.

Becker moved to Austin in the 1960s when she was a young child and her father was stationed at Bergstrom Air Force Base. She moved to the Lake Travis area in 1979 when RR 620 was just a two-lane country road. She and her girlfriends would ride their horses through the Lake Travis countryside.

As an art student, Becker studied under Ralph White, a retired art professor from the University of Texas-Austin.

"Mr. White taught me a great deal about art, but most of all he taught me to be myself and follow what is in my heart," she said.

Painting has a calming effect that allows Becker to capture the beauty of the outdoors.

"At this time in my life, I enjoy painting as a way to relax, see where my brush strokes will take me, crank up the music and go to town," Becker said. "At this time in my life, I enjoy painting as a way to relax, see where my brush strokes will take me, crank up the music and go to town!"

Lakeway's SH 45 W. Proposal Garnerers CAMPO Support

The City of Lakeway's proposal for construction of SH 45 West cleared another hurdle in its evolution with a key CAMPO endorsement Monday night.

The Transportation Policy Board of the Capital Area Metropolitan Planning Organization voted, 17-3, to include it in a list of transportation projects to model for the 2040 Regional Transportation Plan.

The proposed toll road would connect the planned extension of SH 45 from U.S. 183 to RM 2222 with the project known as SH 45 SW. The 10-mile section would be one of several roads and improvements that would complete the State Highway 45 Loop circling the greater Austin area and improving regional mobility.

The CAMPO board endorsed regional and sub-regional scenarios for use in modeling the two scenarios as part of the 2040 plan development process.

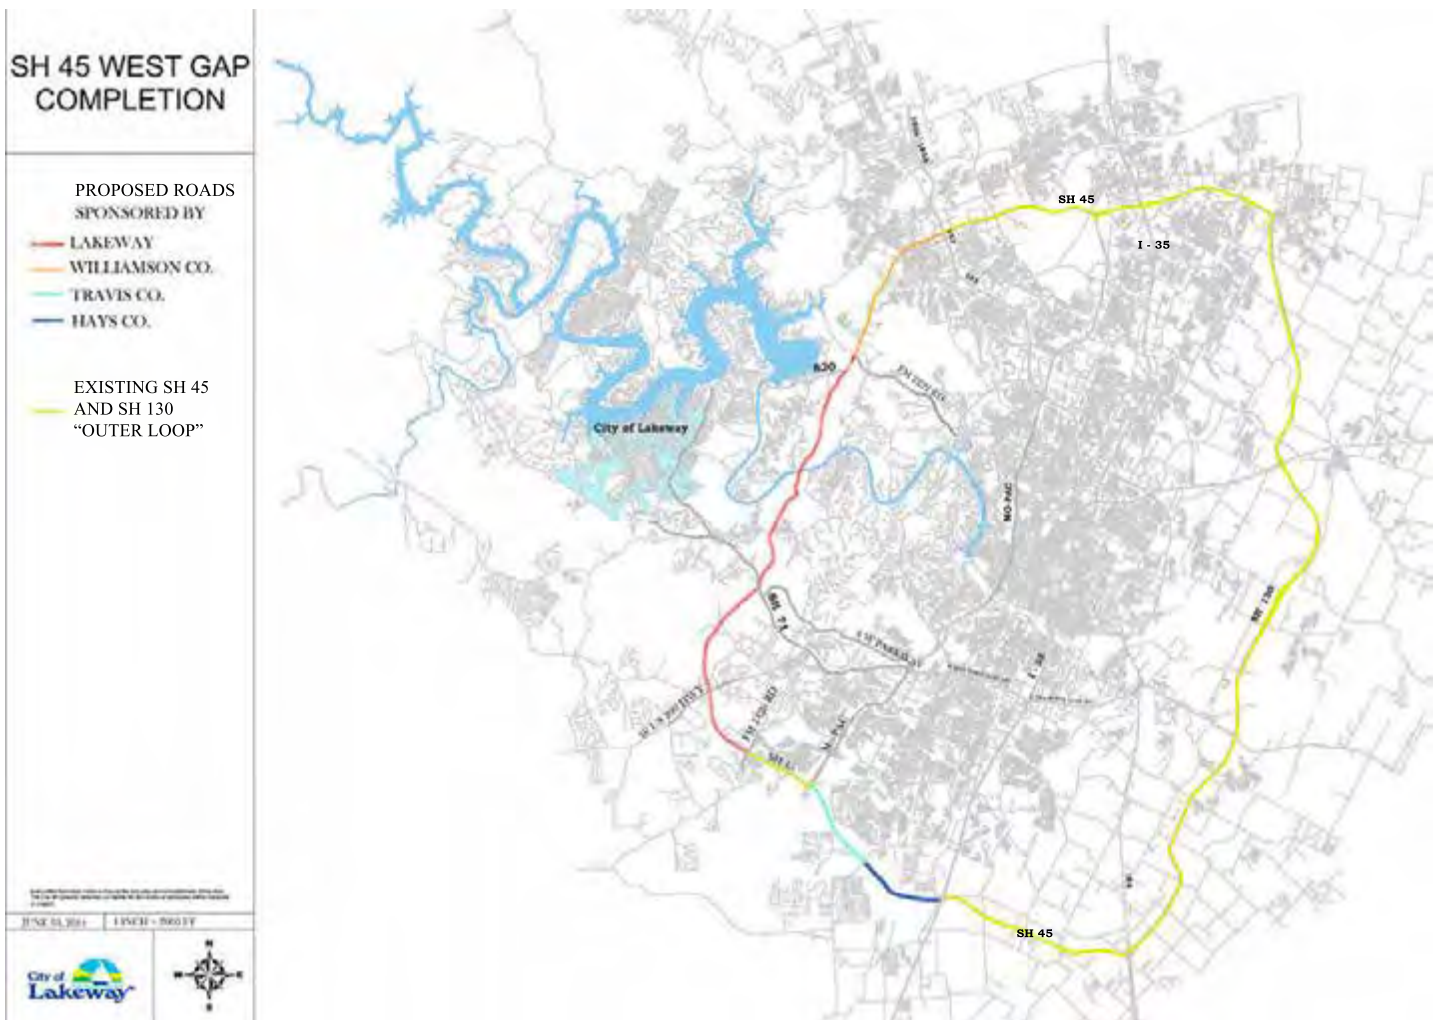

"This toll road project has just passed a significant milestone in its embryonic stages," Lakeway City Manager Steve Jones said. "The board's endorsement advances the SH 45 Loop project and gets us one step closer to a new thoroughfare on the map of western Travis County that was devoid of any significant road projects for the foreseeable future."

The idea of an outer loop has been discussed for decades in the area and for almost eight years in Lakeway, but Lakeway officials believe now is the time to take action.

"Something needed to be done to address the traffic congestion that grows every day on roads in western Travis County," Jones said. "Although some people may view this road as a dream, many successes often start out as just that – great ideas that seem unattainable, at first, but then they become a reality."

The City of Lakeway encourages residents to take part in future CAMPO discussions about the 2040 Regional Transportation Plan. According to its website, CAMPO has scheduled a public survey for the third quarter of 2014 and mobile meetings for the first quarter of 2015.

Summer Shindig Set For Lakeway's Next Big Band Bash

Stay cool to the beat of the band at the next City of Lakeway Big Band Bash from 8-10 p.m. July 14 at Lakeway Activity Center, 105 Cross Creek. Lakeway Arts Committee sponsors the Big Band Bash every second Monday.

Kent Dugan's 17-piece orchestra, The Republic of Texas Big Band, will perform with well-known singers David Cummings and Lisa Clark, both of Lakeway. This band consistently appeals to dancers of many generations. Expect to hear a wide variety of favorite tunes, mostly from the Sinatra era, with fresh arrangements.

Guests may dance or listen on a large dance floor and at plenty of tables. Bring refreshments, if desired, as none are provided. There are no reservations; doors open at 7:30 p.m.

The event is free, but donations to the band are encouraged.

"Get your dancing shoes polished, dress up a bit, and come out to dance and listen to some really great music," Lakeway Arts Committee chairman Fred Newton said. "Anyone who has attended will tell you this monthly event shows why living in Lakeway is so much fun."

For information, call Lakeway Activity Center at 512-261-1010.

What's Happening at the Lake Travis Community Library in July?

Lake Travis Community Library's Summer Reading Program is in full swing and there are plenty of things to do at the library! Do you enjoy magic, music, or learning languages? Are video games your passion? Do you want to laugh and learn about animals with Critterman? Or, are you fascinated by dinosaurs? Read below to learn more about these events!

If You Give a Mouse a Cookie Party - Friday, July 11th at 2 p.m. - Join us for a story time featuring your favorite classic book about a mouse and a cookie and its sequels. We'll have activities, refreshments, and a special guest!

Critterman - Thursday, July 17th at 10:30 a.m. - Are you ready for a positively wild experience? Join us for Critterman and his animal ambassadors! You'll learn all about wildlife in this fun program.

Mango Languages Open House - Thursday, July 17th from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. - Mango Languages is an online language learning system now offered for free to library patrons! Mango is fun, interactive, and has real-world applications. Join us for a demonstration and try out the program for yourself on one of our computers. Refreshments will be served!

Musician Staci Gray - Friday, July 18th at 4 p.m. - Join us for the Austin-based children's performer who has mesmerized children all over Texas. Her original music gets children to sing, dance, and be just plain silly!

Dinosaur George - Thursday, July 24th at 10:30 a.m. - "Dinosaur George" Blasing is a self-taught paleontologist and animal behaviorist with more than 35 years of study and research. Come learn about dinosaurs on July 24th!

Games 2U - Saturday, July 26th from 10:30 a.m. to 12 p.m. - This event will bring out the kid in you! Experience weightlessness with the Gyroscope and play your favorite games with the Video Game Theater.

Magician Black Bert - Thursday, July 31st at 2 p.m. - Join us on July 31st for a magical experience with Magician Black Bert! Black Bert will teach us about the magic of reading and show some pretty neat magic tricks, too!

In addition to these events, the library will hold regular Library Camps on Mondays, Science Camps on Tuesdays, Come & Go Crafts on Tuesdays, Family Flicks on Wednesdays, story times four times a week, and more. The Lake Travis Community Library is located at 1938 Lohmans Crossing. Please contact the library at (512) 263-2885 or see www.laketralislibrary.org for details and to view the complete Summer Reading Program calendar. All library events are free and open to the public.

TENNIS TIPS

By USPTA/PTR Master Professional
Fernando Velasco

The Modern Game: The Forehand Approach Shot

In previous newsletters, I offered tips on how to execute the basic strokes for players who are just beginning to play tennis or who want to resume playing. I am now offering suggestions on how to play the “modern” game mostly geared towards players who are happy with hitting the ball over the net and controlling the point with consistency. These players may be already playing for leagues or in tournaments and are looking for more “weapons” on the court. In this issue, I will offer instructions on how to execute the Top Forehand Approach Shot. This shot is used when an opponent hits a soft shot that has bounced high over the net. The player will take advantage and will charge to the net, thus hitting with top spin high over the net and hit with power. When the ball hits the court, it will take a big hop, forcing the opponent to fall back close to the fence, or to hit the ball on the rise. This shot can be used as a “winner” or as an “approach shot.”

In the illustrations, Christian Smith, one of the top players of the Grey Rock Tennis Academy, shows the proper technique to execute this stroke. Christian is coached by the Director of the Tennis Academy, Darin Pleasant.

Step 1: The Back Swing: When Christian sees the opportunity, he makes a quick turn of his upper body and takes the racket high and back. The head of the racket is now at shoulder height, his shoulders are turned, the left hand in front of his body for balance. He has loaded his right hip to help him drive his weight forward. His grip is relaxed and his wrist is “laid back” to allow maximum point of contact.

Step 2: The Point of Contact: The success of a top spin shot is keeping the ball on the strings going from low to high in a 30 degree angle and accelerating the racket head around the outside of the ball. Christian started the swing high and “looped” it to allow the head of the racket to drop down. He will be brushing around the outside of the ball as he makes contact with it. His right shoulder is almost opening and his weight has now been shifted toward the front.

Step 3: The Follow Through: In order to get maximum control and power, Christian is keeping his left arm in front as he extends through the shot. He has “snapped” his left wrist and has the head of the racket facing down. His weight is in the process of shifting forward.

Step 4: The Finish: Christian’s upper body acceleration forced his head of the racket to “wrap around” his left hip, thus creating the most power and topspin on the ball. His legs are already in position to move forward the net for a volley.

Step 5: The Ready Position: Once Christian hits the ball, he must get ready to volley if the ball was not a “winner”. By the smile on his face, his forehand approach shot was successful and is waiting for an easy return to “kill” the next shot. His knees are slightly flexed, he is in a good athletic stance and his eyes are focused on the oncoming ball.

Did a bug ever fly in your mouth? Usually, the story ends there. You spit it out. Goodbye, bug. But sometimes — gulp! — you might swallow it so it ends up in your stomach. Less often, someone might inhale a bug into the lungs.

You have probably heard that old children's song "I Know an Old Lady Who Swallowed a Fly." Most people don't swallow flies. But we know of someone who's sure she swallowed a tiny gnat. Another boy had a close call when a yellowjacket flew out of his can of soda and into his mouth while he was taking a sip. (He spit it out before getting stung.) And would you believe that someone said she inhaled a lightning bug and could feel it in her lungs?

There are two paths a swallowed bug might take:

- down the esophagus (food tube) into the stomach
- down the trachea (windpipe) into the lungs

If the bug ends up in your stomach, it will get mashed up and digested just like any other food. And whatever's left of it will "come out the other end" when you go to the bathroom. It's gross, but unlikely to cause you any more trouble.

If you feel like you inhaled the bug and you think it could be in your lungs, tell a parent or another adult. Usually this will make you cough and feel a little uncomfortable. Your mom or dad will want to check with your doctor. Unlike your stomach, your lungs won't digest the bug.

In your lungs, the bug will get trapped in a layer of slimy mucus. Maybe you're thinking "Gross, there's slime in my lungs!" But it's good to know the mucus is there for a reason. It protects your lungs and airways from situations just like this one. The mucus helps your lungs stay clear so that you can breathe properly. In other words, no bugs allowed!
