JORDAN LAMB COMPLETED HER GIRL SCOUT SILVER AWARD PROJECT

Recently, Steiner resident Jordan Lamb completed her Girl Scout Silver Award Project. She hosted a Girls' Basketball workshop over the summer and has installed a bench at the Towne Square basketball court. Jordan is a freshman at Vandergrift high school, involved in sports, scouts, and her church. She was inspired to do this project after having spent countless hours on the basketball courts; from her inaugural years in elementary school, to years on the middle school basketball team to now on the freshmen team at VHS. For the hours she would practice, there was no seating for her parents who inevitably wanted to leave sooner than she was ready due to the lack of seating. The bench is a permanent solution for countless others who may be in a similar situation. "I wanted to host a girls' basketball workshop to help girls build their confidence on the court. The Girl Scouts' mission is to build girls of courage, confidence and character - the same thing that basketball can do!" said Lamb.

The Girl Scouts' program encourages girls to discover what they care about, connect with their community and take action to make the world a better place. It requires 50 hours of work, must be sustainable, help others and requires a prerequisite Take Action community project.

Holiday Wishes

Each year, neglected and abused children in the Austin area are removed from their homes by Child Protective Services caseworkers who work to make a difference in their lives. Separations occur all year, but are especially difficult during the holidays. Sometimes children leave with nothing but the clothes on their backs. In these circumstances, gifts and the holiday season are often forgotten.

Partnerships for Children is making a difference in the lives of these children and we invite you to join us by participating in our 10th annual HOLIDAY WISHES program. In 2014, the Holiday Wishes program provided gifts to over 4500 children in Central Texas.

HOW CAN YOU HELP?

- Sponsor a child by purchasing items from their wish list.
- Donate general gifts for children that are not matched with community donors.
- Make a donation and we will shop for you.

For a contribution of only $75, you can transform a holiday wish into reality for a child in your community.

Join us by becoming a donor or contributor!

For more information, please contact

Partnerships for Children at holidaywishes@partnershipsforchildren.org or 512-834-4756.

HITTING THE SLOPES THIS SKI SEASON?

Keep in mind these tips to prevent injuries on the slopes.

Written by Kelly Cunningham, MD Sports Medicine specialist Founder. Austin OrthoBiologics.

As a former US Olympic Men's Ski Team physician and orthopedist, every year during the winter months I treat many ski & snowboard injuries. As traveling doctor for the team, I accompanied the athletes throughout the US, Canada and Europe on the World Cup tour and was responsible for the triage, stabilization, and treatment of these world-class skiers.

One of the most frequent questions I get this time of year from my patients who ski is "How can I avoid hurting myself on the ski slopes?" So what do I tell recreational skiers about staying healthy while on the slopes?

First and foremost, adjust to the altitude in your first few days. While there are medications that will improve your blood oxygen, they require a prescription and can have side effects. Perhaps the easiest to take along are low-dose aspirin or ginko biloba, as both are safe (unless allergic) and easy to take. Low-level exercise and lots of water (especially during the first night) are also key, as is abstinence from alcohol during the first 24 hours at altitude.

Modern skis, boots, and bindings are universally safe now, unlike in decades past. Multi-release bindings help you come out of your skis safely in a fall and with less stress on your knees, the most commonly injured joint in a skier. Make sure they are set correctly.

Speaking of knees, in most solid, intermediate skiers, unlike beginners (learning to stop) and racers (ACL injury from shear forces), serious knee injuries are actually quite rare.

The best way to protect yourself from ski injury is:

- get in good "ski-shape"
- ski within your limits
- stay relaxed but focused
- watch out for that last, fatigued run of the afternoon
- if you fall, fall forward and throw your hands in front of you And always, always, wear a helmet!

Austin resident Kelly Cunningham, MD is board certified by the American College of Orthopedic Surgeons, and an active member of the Arthroscopy Association of North America and the International Cartilage Repair Society . $50,000 Childhood Cancer Research Grant Awarded to Dell Children's Medical Center

The St. Baldrick's Foundation, a volunteer-powered and donor-centered charity dedicated to raising money for childhood cancer research, is proud to award a one-year, $50,000 grant to Dell Children's Medical Center of Central Texas. This grant is one of 33 infrastructure grants awarded as part of the Foundation's fall grant cycle, totaling $2 million.

This grant will enable the Children's Blood & Cancer Center (CBCC) Clinical Research Department to oversee patient clinical trial participation in a more organized and efficient manner. Grant funds will be used to develop a new database system and enable the hospital to hire a database coordinator who will streamline the data collection process, store data more efficiently and provide statistics and reports to Seton and other organizations across the nation.

"The number of children diagnosed with cancer at the CBCC has more than tripled since 1998," says Dr. Amy Fowler, pediatric hermatology and oncology specialist with Dell Children's. "We continuously face the financial challenge of doing more with less, so this grant is helping saves lives now and in future generations."

This series of grants, combined with the more than $21.2 million awarded in July to fund cutting-edge research, brings the St. Baldrick's Foundation's funding total to $23 million awarded in 2015. Grants were awarded based on the need of the institution and its patients, anticipated results of the grant and local participation in St. Baldrick's fundraising events and activities.

"The St. Baldrick's Foundation is excited to fund this latest round of grants, which will give much needed support to multiple pediatric cancer treatment teams across the U.S.," said Kathleen Ruddy, chief executive officer of St. Baldrick's. "These grants will improve the capacity of the institutions to do more research, enroll more children in cutting-edge clinical trials and complete studies that are in progress. These grants would not be possible without our dedicated volunteers and generous donors who believe that kids deserve better than the toxic medicines that are currently available which all too often harm developing bodies and create lifelong, life-threatening health problems."

Playing Defense: Brees Dream Foundation, Dell Children's Urge Public to Watch Out More Carefully Child Abuse

Brittany and Drew Brees Featured in New Televised PSA

"Texans love being No. 1 ... Sadly, we're also No. 1 when it comes to child abuse and neglect."

These words kick off a new televised public service announcement that will be broadcast throughout the Austin area, starting today through early 2016. They're voiced by Drew Brees, Westlake High School alum and star NFL quarterback with the New Orleans Saints.

"More kids died from abuse last year than in any other state – nearly 10 percent of the national total," adds Brees' wife, Brittany, in the 30-second spot. "And Texas came in last in resources fighting this problem."

The Brees Dream Foundation is partnering with The CARE (Child Abuse Resource and Education) Program atDell Children's Medical Center of Central Texas to encourage Central Texans to report suspected child abuse to Texas Child Protective Services at (800) 252-5400.

The public service announcement can be viewed https://youtu.be/_5rksdpZe_Y

"Too often, people are unaware of how severe and prevalent this problem is in Texas," Drew Brees said. "They don't see signs of abuse because they don't know what the signs are. We are the first line of defense in identifying children who are being abused, and we all have a responsibility to act when we have concerns."

"Sometime people don't report something suspicious because they're afraid or don't want to get involved – or don't know who to contact," Brittany Brees said. "Providing safe, stable and nurturing environments for children during the most critical time for their development requires support from all of us."

Signs of child abuse include:

- Significant changes in mood or behavior
- Declines in academic performance
- Trouble eating or sleeping
- Inappropriate sexual behaviors
- Substance abuse
- Self-harm behaviors (such as cutting)
- Suicidal thoughts
- New fears of certain situations, places or people
- Unexplained injuries to a child or infant

The Breeses agreed to do the PSA after meeting with Kristi Katz, senior development officer with the Children's Medical Center Foundation, which supports Dell Children's. Drew and Brittany have four young children and care about helping children facing daunting challenges and want to help a cause in Austin, Drew's hometown. When Katz told them about The CARE Program, the Breeses were particularly moved by the startling statistics about Texas.

Dell Children's is home to the only coordinated medical child abuse assessment, diagnosis and treatment program in Central Texas. The CARE team is comprised of two doctors, three certified nurse practitioners, a pediatric social worker, a clinical manager, an administrative assistant and a collaborating researcher.

CARE Team members serve about 650 patients annually, many of whom are three years of age and younger and are victims of sexual abuse.

Patients often come to Dell Children's emergency room, but more typically cases are referred to the CARE Team after reports are filed with Child Protective Services and law enforcement agencies and there is a need for a medical opinion and documentation.

The CARE Team's mission reflects a multifaceted approach to addressing child abuse, providing:

[if !supportLists] · [endif] Comprehensive, evidence-based care to child abuse and neglect victims.

[if !supportLists]. [endif]Education and resources to the community and healthcare workers and other members of child protection teams in outlying areas.

[if !supportLists]. [endif] Analysis of child abuse data for the purpose of seeking answers and instituting best practices.

State law (Dept. of Family and Protective Services TX Family Code, Chapter 261) mandates that anyone having cause to believe that a child's physical or mental health or welfare has been or may be adversely affected by abuse or neglect must report the case immediately to a state or local law enforcement agency or Child Protective Services.

Current law (Texas Family Code, Chapter 261, 261.101) also requires that professionals such as teachers, doctors, nurses and child day care workers must make a verbal report within 48 hours. Failure to report suspected child abuse or neglect is a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment of up to 180 days and/or a fine of up to $2,000.
