Air Force general to speak at Lakeway's Memorial Day

USAF Ret. Lt. General Brett M. Dula will be the guest speaker at Lakeway's Memorial Day ceremony at 10 a.m. May 27 at Emmaus Catholic Parish, 1718 Lohmans Crossing, in Lakeway.

The Standing Military Committee, the Lohmann's Ford Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Lakeway Police Department Color Guard, the Lakeway Sing

Along choir and the Lakeway Heritage Commission will coordinate with Emmaus Catholic Parish to present a ceremony remembering the fallen on this day.

"We are honored to have an officer the caliber of General Dula to speak at the city's Memorial Day ceremony," Lakeway Mayor Joe Bain said. "I encourage our community to attend and remember those who sacrificed their lives so we may enjoy our freedoms today."

The Lakeway Police Department Color Guard will post the colors, the Lohmann's Ford Chapter of the DAR will place a memorial wreath and the Lakeway Sing Along choir will sing the national anthem and "God Bless America."

Dula is a self-described "Air Force brat" who attended grade and high schools all over the world. He graduated from the Air Force Academy in 1964 and earned a master's degree from Pepperdine University in 1975.

He held a wide variety of important operational and staff assignments during his 34-year career, including command of a flying squadron, command of two bombardment wings and command of the 2nd Air Force of Air Combat Command at Beale Air Force Base in California.

At the time of his retirement, General Dula was vice commander of Air Combat Command, which manages a force of more than 140,000 active duty people, 130 bombers, 1,300 fighters and 500 support aircraft at more than 30 locations.

During his flying career, Dula logged more than 5,000 hours, piloting both bomber and fighter aircraft. During the Vietnam War, he flew 380 combat missions.

Among his many awards and decorations are the Defense Distinguished Service Medal, the Legion of Merit, the Distinguished Flying Cross with oak leaf cluster, and the Air Medal with 18 oak leaf clusters.

When he retired in 1998, Dula and his wife, Terri, made their home in Austin. They have two daughters who live in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and a son, Lt. Col. Mason Dula, who is the 10th successive generation of Dulas to serve in our armed forces.

For information about the ceremony, contact the Lakeway Heritage Center at 512-608-9533 or history@lakeway-tx.gov.

LAKEWAY PLAYHOUSE: A VIABLE FIRST STEP FOR PERFORMING ARTS

By: Fred Newton (Lakeway Resident)

Much has been said about developing an "Arts District" and a "Performing Arts Center" in our community. The latest proposal being considered is for an 800-seat, 48,000 square foot "Performing Arts Center". The projected cost is $25 million, to be funded as follows: $6.25 million from hotel occupancy taxes, $6.25 million from state and federal grants, and $12.5 million from donors. The acts to be booked are expected to be similar to the one or two-night stands seen at the Paramount Theatre, the One World Theatre, and Bee Caves' Backyard Theatre, leaving a lot of unused nights.

While not opposing the long range plans for an "Arts District" and a "Performing Arts Center", there is a viable alternative that could produce a significant enhancement to theatre arts for this area. That alternative is a 150 to 200 seat "Lakeway Playhouse" that would house a professional (actors equity) theatre producing plays throughout the year. It could be operational within a year at a cost easily covered by the hotel occupancy tax (i.e., no need for donors). The City would own the theatre and control its use. Tickets would be priced at about $30, with discounts for seniors and students.

Here's how to do it, in a nutshell. The City could lease a building in The Oaks with about 10,000 square feet. An attractive rate could be negotiated because of it being a business that would draw customers for the restaurants in that complex. Parking is ample and convenient. In the building, back-to-back stages would enable one, facing the seating, to be in use for plays while the other is used to prepare the next production. Space would be provided for a lobby, an office, and restrooms. A lighting and sound system, comfortable theatre seats, and stage equipment would be the major capital expense. Currently existing professional theatre companies in Austin (there are none west of Mopac) would be permitted to extend their productions to the Lakeway Playhouse at a minimal cost. The fee for use would cover building management, sound and light operation, utilities, and a security bond for damage.

There is no other full-time theatre in Travis County west of Mopac. I have discussed the Lakeway Playhouse concept with Don Toner, Producing Artistic Director of the Austin Playhouse in east Austin. He is very interested in the concept of having his 6 or 7 plays yearly (4 weeks each) extend to another 4 weeks each in Lakeway. Other theatre companies, such as the Lakeway Players (staging two plays a year) and TexArts (staging about three plays a year) would likely find the low-cost use of a theatre in Lakeway attractive.

Some concerns have been expressed regarding restrictions on the use of Lakeway's hotel occupancy tax. Since a Lakeway Playhouse would draw many users from outside the City of Lakeway, it easily satisfies the criteria of the relevant Chapter 351, Subchapter B, of the Texas Tax Code. The Lakeway Playhouse would be an attraction to conventioners at the Lakeway Inn and other visitors at area hotels.

If this alternative is of interest to you, send a message to the Mayor (email: mayor@lakeway-tx.gov) asking that it be considered by the City Council.

Lakeway Author Launches 2nd Novel

Pat Dunlap Evans recently published her second novel Out and In (A.M. Chai Literary: 2016), a mystery thriller, primarily for female readers, Evans says.

"After my poignant debut novel To Leave a Memory, which is literary fiction, I wanted to have more fun. So I dreamed up a female sleuth, the beautiful cellist Marie Donovan, who is charged with the murder of a Dallas opera maestro. Marie is also a recent widow after the death of her husband Cole, a retired NFL quarterback for the mythological Portland Explorers. Cole apparently commits suicide off a Dallas high-rise when his Ponzi scheme implodes," Evans says.

The novel takes readers through Marie's arrest and murder charge to a tense trial, then off to exotic islands on a desperate search to find money Cole may have stashed in offshore accounts. Along the way, Marie finds herself drawn to her hunky defense attorney, Ryan Ingles, a former football buddy of Cole's. The two once played for the University of Texas, where Marie was a cheerleader and amateur cellist.

"This mystery-thriller has a bit of romance, which makes it fall in the category of women's fiction. I wanted to give readers as much to enjoy as possible, so I did not stick to the genre's cookie-cutter structure. There is a good dose of character development and issues about past relationships. That's girl stuff. But the surprise ending is pure mystery-thriller," Evans says.

The novel gets its title from a society gossip column in a Dallas tabloid. Out and In is available in print format on Amazon and on Kindle Direct Publishing. Evans has placed copies of Out and In with the Lake Travis Community Library and the Bee Cave Public Library as well. Her novel To Leave a Memory is in circulation at both libraries too.

Lake Travis Library

This May the Lake Travis Community Library will feature an exhibit by local Chinese Brush Artist and Calligrapher Gail Threinen. Threinen's works include famous Chinese poetry and inspirational compositions done in Chinese Calligraphy as well as landscapes, florals, and botanicals done in spontaneous style. Chinese Brush Painting is an ancient watercolor form of art using the "Four Treasures of the Study" which are the brush, handmade paper, ink stick, and inkstone. The paper is very absorbent and unlike traditional watercolor paper, the inks and colors are absorbed into the paper, so once the brush touches the paper whatever appears is permanent. Yet, many happy surprises come of that water-ink-brush-paper interaction. Threinen enjoys this ancient style of brushwork because it is rooted deep in history and symbolism. Unlike traditional western style painting, it is meant to capture the spirit of the subject rather than its photographic reality.

Threinen first fell in love with the Asian style of watercolor painting and the art of Chinese Calligraphy while her family was living abroad in Singapore and Shanghai. Upon returning to St. Paul, Minnesota, she was selected to be a docent at the Minneapolis Institute of Art specializing in the China galleries. While there she received intensive training in Chinese art history and had access to their extensive collection of Chinese calligraphy, bird and flower paintings, and landscapes.

Threinen has been practicing and studying Chinese painting and calligraphy for nearly 20 years. She is a member of the Sumi-e Society of America and has exhibited for several years, as well as won awards, in their annual juried exhibitions.

The exhibit at the Lake Travis Community Library will run from May 1st through May 29th with an artist's reception to take place on Saturday, May 7th from 1:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. Threinen will also provide a special demonstration of her art technique on Monday, May 9th at 10:30 a.m. in the library meeting room. All are invited to attend.

Local author Helen Currie Foster will visit the Lake Travis Community Library on Tuesday, May 24th at 2 p.m. to talk about her latest book in the Alice McDonald Greer mystery series, Ghost Letter. The novel weaves suspense, history, humor, and romance into a true delight for mystery lovers.

Foster earned a BA from Wellesley College, an MA from the University of Texas, and a JD from the University of Michigan. Having grown up in Texas surrounded by books and storytelling, Foster taught high school English and later became a prize-winning feature writer for a small Michigan weekly. Following a career of more than thirty years as an environmental lawyer, she found the character Alice and her stories had suddenly appeared in her life. In her writing, Foster explores the interaction between history and the present and the reasons we tell the stories we do.

Local author Sofia Besondy will present a book talk and signing at the Lake Travis Community Library on Tuesday, May 17th at 6pm. Besondy's first book Creating an Extraordinary Marriage After Divorce is an autobiography which details how after two failed marriages, Besondy finally learned to "let go and let God."

Our next Lakeway Community Blood Drive will be held on May 14 from 8 to 12. The location for this drive will be The Lakeway Church (not the Activity Center).

RETIRE BETTER WHAT GOES UP...

WITH JOSH STIVERS

Most of us had the experience as children of climbing high into a tree only to realize we were not quite sure how to get down. For the lucky ones, our parents were around to help extract us for our precarious situation. For the unlucky ones, you either had the opportunity to get to know your local fireman or ended up with a cast on your arm. Kittens seem to have the same difficulty.

I have been reading a book by Ed Viesturs in which he recounts his story of becoming the first American, and only the 6th person in history, to climb the 14 highest mountains in the world. While his story is fascinating and awe-inspiring, his motto for success really stuck home....

Reaching the summit is optional, getting down is mandatory!

Ed talks about how often he turned around before reaching the top of the mountain. Sometimes when he could see it just up ahead. The reason for this was due to the fact that based on predetermined rules and principles, reaching the summit would require him to take unacceptable risk. It is interesting to hear how he turns back even when others he is climbing with push on to the summit.

I began to think how much this is like financial planning. We all have different levels of acceptable risk. We all want to reach the summit one day. And we all need a plan for getting back down.

I have met with many people over the years who have done a fantastic job of getting up the financial mountain through diligent saving and prudent investing, but interestingly, they have not given much thought to how they are going to successfully navigate the second half of their investment journey.

Once you leave employment and no longer receive a steady paycheck, the rules of the game change dramatically. It is at that point, when you are at the summit of your financial planning journey, that it is imperative you have a plan for getting back down the other side of the mountain.

I would argue this 2nd half planning is far more important than the planning it takes to accumulate and invest money while working. If you have not considered this fact, I would encourage you to begin to explore how you are going to handle things after you have summited your financial mountain.

If you would like to get a different perspective on your current portfolio or investment plan, feel free to contact us at retirebetter@platinumwealthadvisory.com and we can setup a time to visit over a cup of coffee.

Lake Travis Boy's Soccer Makes History by Advancing to State Finals

The Lake Travis High School Boy's Varsity Soccer Team made history this past weekend when they made it to the Texas 6A State Finals, a first for Lake Travis. Quite the accomplishment considering the Texas UIL 6A Class is comprised of 247 schools. This also broke a 5-year record; 2010 was the last time a Central Texas High School in our bracket made it to the State Semi-Finals or Finals.

Lake Travis lost to undefeated Dallas Coppell 6-1 for the state title, Saturday night, April 16th, on a rain-soaked Birkelbach Field in Georgetown. According to MaxPreps, Dallas Coppell entered the finals ranked #1 in the state, with Lake Travis ranked #2. Lake Travis head coach David Bammel expressed pride and admiration for his team, "It was a tight match in the first half. Coppell took the lead at 11 minutes, but our boys kept digging. (Senior) Connor Vilven booted one in above their keeper at the end of the first half taking the score to 1-1." Unfortunately for Lake Travis, Coppell owned the second half, scoring 5 more goals, 2 off free kicks.

The Friday night semi-finals game against Brownsville Lopez was a different experience entirely. Lake Travis led Lopez 2-0 for most of the second half. The first half started with a break-away goal from (Junior) Luke Thompson and culminated with a header from (Senior) Bijan Ahmadian off a free kick from (Sophomore) Cameron Dicker. "We pressed hard and I couldn't be more proud of these boys", bragged Coach Bammel.

Lake Travis finishes their pre and post season with an astounding 128 goals scored to 17 conceded. This was a special team that continues the tradition of excellence at Lake Travis," stated Coach Bammel. Congratulations to the Lake Travis High School Boy's Soccer Team for an outstanding year.
