- Please remember that all items (BBQ pits, trash cans, landscaping stones, etc.) must be stored out of plain sight from the street. Trash cans may be placed at the curb the night before trash pick-up and should be put away by the morning after trash pick-up.

- Please remember that dogs should be on leashes at all times when out in the neighborhood and on HOA property.

The Buzz: Sweetwater Sets Up Six Community Honeybee Hives

On the last day of April, Sweetwater became abuzz with thousands of new “residents,” as the community installed six new honeybee hives.

Three hives are now located just behind the Sweetwater Welcome Center. The other three are in a canyon off of Pedernales Summit Parkway, between Davenport Summit and Highland Lakes.

The hives are located away from the community’s trail system, to protect both residents and the bees, but it’s easy to spot them. Just look for white boxes about the size of small suitcases, stacked anywhere from six to eight feet high and surrounded by fencing.

The hives are part of Sweetwater’s partnership with Round Rock Honey, which hosted one of the most popular booths at the Sweetwater Wildflower Festival on April 23. They offered honey samples, demonstrations of working with bees, and explained the new hives to residents who had already heard about them and were excited.

“Sweetwater is heaven for honeybees, with its natural creeks to provide all-important water, and more than 700 acres of natural open space,” said Konrad Bouffard, owner of Round Rock Honey. “Beyond its acres of wildflowers, Sweetwater offers many sources of nectar, including its many oak trees, persimmon trees and wild grapevines.”

At peak times, during late spring and early summer, the hives are expected to be home to up to 300,000 bees. They belong to the species apis mellifera, or western honey bee, prized for their sweet honey, gentle nature and hygienic habits.

Bouffard said the Sweetwater hives can produce up to 400 pounds of honey a year, under optimal conditions.

“Honey from this area of the Hill Country is very complex, with a deep flavor that has a nice persimmon twang,” he said. “The color is a beautiful chestnut brown, with a hint of red from the persimmon.”

Bouffard said it’s easy for people and bees to coexist as neighbors.

“You really have to try hard to get stung by a bee,” he said. “A bee will always bump you first if it thinks you are threatening. Just move away, and by all means don’t swat it.”

If you’d like to enjoy some Round Rock Honey, you can order online at www.roundrockhoney.com, or find them at stores and farmer’s markets throughout the Austin area.

Since it began in 2003, the company has sold over one million jars of honey, and it offers related products such as its popular natural beeswax lip balm. It maintains more than 1,600 beehives throughout the Austin and Hill Country area.

Lake Travis Boy's Soccer Makes History by Advancing to State Finals

The Lake Travis High School Boy's Varsity Soccer Team made history this past weekend when they made it to the Texas 6A State Finals, a first for Lake Travis. Quite the accomplishment considering the Texas UIL 6A Class is comprised of 247 schools. This also broke a 5-year record; 2010 was the last time a Central Texas High School in our bracket made it to the State Semi-Finals or Finals.

Lake Travis lost to undefeated Dallas Coppell 6-1 for the state title, Saturday night, April 16th, on a rain-soaked Birkelbach Field in Georgetown. According to MaxPreps, Dallas Coppell entered the finals ranked #1 in the state, with Lake Travis ranked #2. Lake Travis head coach David Bammel expressed pride and admiration for his team, "It was a tight match in the first half. Coppell took the lead at 11 minutes, but our boys kept digging. (Senior) Connor Vilven booted one in above their keeper at the end of the first half taking the score to 1-1." Unfortunately for Lake Travis, Coppell owned the second half, scoring 5 more goals, 2 off free kicks.

The Friday night semi-finals game against Brownsville Lopez was a different experience entirely. Lake Travis led Lopez 2-0 for most of the second half. The first half started with a break-away goal from (Junior) Luke Thompson and culminated with a header from (Senior) Bijan Ahmadian off a free kick from (Sophomore) Cameron Dicker. "We pressed hard and I couldn't be more proud of these boys", bragged Coach Bammel.

Lake Travis finishes their pre and post season with an astounding 128 goals scored to 17 conceded. This was a special team that continues the tradition of excellence at Lake Travis," stated Coach Bammel. Congratulations to the Lake Travis High School Boy's Soccer Team for an outstanding year.

RETIRE BETTER WHAT GOES UP...

WITH JOSH STIVERS

Most of us had the experience as children of climbing high into a tree only to realize we were not quite sure how to get down. For the lucky ones, our parents were around to help extract us for our precarious situation. For the unlucky ones, you either had the opportunity to get to know your local fireman or ended up with a cast on your arm. Kittens seem to have the same difficulty.

I have been reading a book by Ed Viesturs in which he recounts his story of becoming the first American, and only the 6th person in history, to climb the 14 highest mountains in the world. While his story is fascinating and awe-inspiring, his motto for success really stuck home....

Reaching the summit is optional, getting down is mandatory!

Ed talks about how often he turned around before reaching the top of the mountain. Sometimes when he could see it just up ahead. The reason for this was due to the fact that based on predetermined rules and principles, reaching the summit would require him to take unacceptable risk. It is interesting to hear how he turns back even when others he is climbing with push on to the summit.

I began to think how much this is like financial planning. We all have different levels of acceptable risk. We all want to reach the summit one day. And we all need a plan for getting back down.

I have met with many people over the years who have done a fantastic job of getting up the financial mountain through diligent saving and prudent investing, but interestingly, they have not given much thought to how they are going to successfully navigate the second half of their investment journey.

Once you leave employment and no longer receive a steady paycheck, the rules of the game change dramatically. It is at that point, when you are at the summit of your financial planning journey, that it is imperative you have a plan for getting back down the other side of the mountain.

I would argue this 2nd half planning is far more important than the planning it takes to accumulate and invest money while working. If you have not considered this fact, I would encourage you to begin to explore how you are going to handle things after you have summited your financial mountain.

If you would like to get a different perspective on your current portfolio or investment plan, feel free to contact us at retirebetter@platinumwealthadvisory.com and we can setup a time to visit over a cup of coffee.

Giving Back this Mother's Day: How Austin's Largest Baby Shower is Saving Moms and Little Ones from Abuse

What if Mother's Day was a month long? That's the goal of the Austin's Largest Baby Shower is to help vulnerable moms by holding a month long fundraiser through of May. The fundraiser benefits expectant moms and children escaping abuse through the Austin's Children Shelter, Hope Alliance Crisis Center and Dell Children Hospital's Care Team.

In 2014, there were 7,509 confirmed victims of child abuse and neglect in Central Texas. Many of these victims are infants, toddlers and expectant moms who leave with very little clothing diapers, food and supplies. Starting May 4th through May 31st, Austin's Largest Baby Shower will hold a city-wide baby clothes and diaper drive benefiting these three great organizations.

Several local business are providing space for the baby clothes and diaper drive donation box: Hat Creek Burger Company, BookPeople, BerryAustin, Dragonfly Wellness Center, Canyon Resort, and Eileen's Colossal Cookies. "Community involvement is key for the success of the Austin's Largest Baby Shower," remarks founder, Doreen Hunter. "Austin is such an inclusive city. Without the generosity of companies donating floor space for the donation boxes, we wouldn't be able to make the event so convenient for everyone." For directions and more drop off locations, visit atxbabyshower.com

How Can You Help?

There are several ways to give. On the evening of May 4th the 2016 Lifeline Awards Banquet and Fundraiser will raise money for the Lifeline Award winner. The Banquet celebrates the programs and community impact that the Austin's Children Shelter, Hope Alliance Crises Center and Dell's Children Hospital of Central Texas provide. In addition, through out the month there are free community drive events that are festive and family friendly. You can also make a monetary donation online after May 4th. The money goes directly to the nonprofits. There is no middle man. A plus, all online donations are tax deductible.

To learn more about the Austin's Largest Baby Shower and the three organizations they are honoring, visit atxbabyshower.com. If your organization or group would like to form a donation team, please contact us at hi@atxbabyshower.com or by phone at (512) 537-8948.

Two Tons of Steel Plays La Cabana May 20

Country meets a dash of punk Friday, May 20 when San Antonio's Two Tons of Steel brings its unique sound to La Cabana Grill, Spicewood, for the last concert in the Spicewood Arts Society's current season. The family-friendly concert starts at 7 p.m.

This is an added performance and not included in the season ticket package. Buy tickets ($25 for adults, $10 for children 12 and under) at www.spicewoodarts.org.

The band's been rocking local stages for two decades and is easily one of San Antonio's favorite bands. From their debut self-titled album in 1994, to the cover of Billboard magazine, bandleader Kevin Geil honed a rockabilly-metal blend that earned them a "Band of the Year" nod twelve times and "Best Country Band" by the San Antonio Current ten times.

Fans may know them from their 20 years at Gruene Hall, where the summer-long "Two Ton Tuesdays" has drawn more than 180,000 fans since it began its annual run in 1995. Out of that success came the equally popular "Two Ton Tuesday Spring Break Show" and "Two Ton Tuesday Christmas Show."

Extending their range beyond live performances, Two Tons was featured in the film "Texas: The Big Picture" shown at the IMAX Theatre in the Bob Bullock Texas State History Museum in Austin. They've been featured in several Texas tourism commercials as well as the opening scene for "Austin City Limits."

A new release, "Garage Songs," will be coming in August, featuring ten new songs written in Kevin Geil's garage during practice.

Food and drink will be available through La Cabana, 21103 Highway 71. As seating at the restaurant's picnic tables is first-come, first served, those attending are encouraged to bring lawn chairs.
