THE BEST GIFT YOU CAN GIVE DAD?

Encouraging him to make an appointment for his annual physical

June is Men's Health Awareness Month and physicians affiliated with Memorial Hermann Cypress Hospital are encouraging men to use this time as a reminder to get their annual physical.

"Men often forego yearly physical exams, but early detection is key to avoiding many of the diseases that affect our mortality and quality of life. Sometimes, all it takes is a simple discussion of prevention and treatment of illnesses like heart disease, high blood pressure, and diabetes with a family doctor for people to get on a better health track," says Adan Alvarez, M.D., a family medicine physician with Memorial Hermann Medical Group Copperfield.

Dr. Alvarez emphasizes the importance of basic screening and patient education to help patients prevent more serious interventions down the line.

"If you're seeing your physician annually, you'll be more involved with tracking your overall health—simple things such as changes in your blood pressure and weight are good indicators. Monitoring risk factors, getting appropriate lab work, and making lifestyle modifications now will go a long way and may spare you the need for medications or even surgery down the line," says Dr. Alvarez.

Family medicine physicians with Memorial Hermann Medical Group treat patients of all ages for a variety of conditions, including routine physicals, chronic disease management, and immunization. All clinics are staffed by board-certified physicians and offer X-ray and lab services on-site.

Memorial Hermann Medical Group Copperfield is open from 8 a.m. – 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Friday. It is located in the Kroger shopping center at the corner of Hwy 6 N and Pebble Lake Dr., between West Road and Huffmeister. Call 281.550.9005 to schedule an appointment.

Becoming a New Mom Again, 19 YEARS LATER

Care from maternal-fetal medicine physician helps ensure the delivery of a healthy baby for one Cypress area woman

As a mother of three girls, Noor Alam knew a thing or two about pregnancy. But when she and her husband found out she was pregnant at age 44 with their fourth child, 19 years after the birth of their first, she knew things would be a little different this time around.

"I think our biggest concern was having a healthy baby, especially considering my age. We had some genetic testing done and when it came back normal, I think we both breathed a sigh of relief," remembers Alam.

Due to several factors, including high blood pressure, diabetes and advanced maternal age, Alam's OB-GYN referred her for co-management with a maternal-fetal medicine (MFM) physician. MFM physicians have special training for high-risk pregnancies as well as fetal ultrasound and prenatal diagnostic testing and counseling.

"While a MFM physician may assume the full care of a high-risk pregnant patient, more often than not, we provide consultations or co-management of patients in conjunction with the care provided by their OB-GYN," says Ndaya Muleba, M.D., a maternal-fetal medicine physician with McGovern Medical School at UTHealth who is affiliated with Memorial Hermann Cypress Hospital.

Alam would be monitored by both Dr. Muleba and her OB-GYN throughout the course of her pregnancy. She says knowing she had two physicians gave her peace of mind.

"Towards the end of my pregnancy, I experienced a few difficulties. It was nice to know both physicians were following my case and monitoring my medications as well as the wellbeing of both myself and my child. When I would go in for an appointment, they had already spoken and had a plan in place for any changes in care that I might need," Alam says.

Alam says she was grateful to have a team of people closely watching her progress because she ended up needing an emergency cesarean section to deliver her son, Ibrahim, on Valentine's Day at Memorial Hermann Cypress.

"I can definitely say it was the most unique Valentine's Day my husband and I have ever had!" Alam says.

Dr. Muleba says it's important for women with medical conditions affecting their pregnancy to initiate prenatal care as early as possible to optimize the treatment of any high-risk conditions that might be present and receive a consultation from a MFM physician as early as possible.

"It's important for women to take charge of their health. If you have a chronic health condition that may affect your pregnancy such as diabetes, obesity, prior pre-term delivery, or you are over the age of 35, you should talk with your primary care provider about having a consultation with a MFM physician to address these issues," says Dr. Muleba. "Seeking prenatal care early to address complications of pregnancy can help improve outcomes for both mother and baby."

The Birthing Center at Memorial Hermann Cypress Hospital offers a High-Risk Pregnancy Clinic in partnership with McGovern Medical School at UT Health. Women can receive a wide range of prenatal diagnostic testing, such as amniocentesis and DNA and enzyme analysis, preconception and genetic counseling, as well as specialized fetal care. A physician referral is required. For more information, call 346-231-4060.

Memorial Hermann Cypress Announces New Chief Nursing Officer

Marci Holub, DNP, RN, NEA-BC, has been named Vice President and Chief Nursing Officer (CNO) at Memorial Hermann Cypress Hospital. In her new position, Holub will have executive oversight over regulatory standards, compliance, patient satisfaction, patient safety, quality of patient care and employee engagement.

“With more than 25 years of nursing experience, Marci brings a wealth of knowledge to this role. She is a proven leader with a track record of not only improving patient satisfaction, but also garnering respect from those who serve under her. I am excited that she is joining the Memorial Hermann Cypress team,” says Heath Rushing, Sr. Vice President and CEO of Memorial Hermann Cypress and Katy Hospitals.

Holub comes from Memorial Hermann The Woodlands Medical Center, where she served as the Senior Administrative Director of Emergency Services, Trauma Services and Clinical Support Services. Among her numerous accomplishments, Holub was instrumental in helping guide Memorial Hermann The Woodlands on its journey to a Level II trauma designation.

“I am excited to join the Memorial Hermann Cypress team as they work toward a Level III trauma designation. I know how much hard work goes into achieving such an accomplishment and I hope the experience I gained at Memorial Hermann The Woodlands will enhance the already strong work underway at Memorial Hermann Cypress,” says Holub.

She is a member of numerous professional organizations, including the American College of Healthcare Executives, Doctor of Nursing Practice Organization, Sigma Theta Tau International, Women Leaders of Memorial Hermann and the American Organization of Nurse Executives.

TEXAS A&M AGRI LIFE EXTENSION

MUD DAUBERS

Mud daubers are a great wasp to have around. They are solitary, generally docile, and can help to reduce various bugs in the landscape. Mud dauber wasps are  $\frac{3}{4}$ - 1" in size and come in a variety of colors. They have a very thin, thread-like waist.

Mud daubers create a mud structure that they provision with insects and/or spiders; they lay an egg on each prey item within a cell in the nest, and then seal the nest off. When larvae hatch from eggs, they eat the items provisioned for them, pupate, and then emerge as adults to begin the process over.

Management is not usually needed for mud daubers as they do not guard their nest like other wasps. While they are capable of stinging, they are not considered to be aggressive. If you do not like the look of the mud nests, you can remove them with a putty knife.

WHAT'S LIVING IN MY CHIMNEY?

By Cheryl Conley, TWRC Wildlife Center

If you're hearing twittering followed by rapid, high-pitched chirps in your fireplace, you've got Chimney Swifts but before you call an exterminator to have them removed, it's important to know that the birds have the law on their side. They are protected by federal law under the Migratory Bird Treaty Act. It is illegal to remove or disturb their nests, eggs or young during the breeding season. Any knowledgeable, respected exterminating company won't touch them. Once the babies are old enough to chirp, they'll only be around for a couple of weeks before they leave the nest so hang in there and leave them alone. They cause little to no damage.

Sadly, according to the North American Breeding Bird Survey, Chimney Swift populations have decreased by 72% since 1966. Their favorite nesting places are old hollow trees and masonry chimneys. With urban sprawl many of the trees are being removed and newer homes and buildings are being constructed without fireplaces. If fireplaces are being built, newer materials such as metal liners are being used making it impossible for the Swifts to cling to the sides.

Once a nesting site has been found, Mom and Dad Swift construct a half saucer-shaped nest made of twigs. The twigs are held together by glue-like saliva from a gland under the bird's tongue. The nest is "glued" to the side of the chimney.

Chimney Swifts fly almost constantly except when roosting overnight and nesting. They even bathe while flying. They fly down to the water, hit the surface with their body, bounce up and shake off the water. When it is time to rest, they don't sit on perches. They have long claws that cling to textured walls and other textured vertical surfaces such as the walls of your chimney.

Swifts are very beneficial. They gobble up thousands of mosquitoes, flies and other insects while in flight. Two parents along with their nestlings will consume up to 12,000 flying insects every day.

Come fall the birds migrate back to the Amazon River Basin.

Chimney Swifts are admitted to TWRC Wildlife Center every year. As part of our mission, we want to educate the public to the laws regarding this species as well as many other migratory species. If you have Chimney Swifts in your chimney, please leave them alone and don't risk the fines and possible jail time associated with disturbing them. If you have questions, please give us a call at 713-468-8972 or check our website at www.twrcwildlifecenter.org.
