THANKSGIVING WITH KIDS

HAPPY THANKSGIVING CARDIFF RANCH

Cardiff you may have heard about the first Thanksgiving, but the holiday did not become a national holiday until many years later. Do you know when and how Thanksgiving became a holiday? It really is an interesting story and because of it each and every year on the fourth Thursday in November we celebrate Thanksgiving Day.

The History

You are probably well aware of the first Thanksgiving and how the Pilgrims and the Indians go together and gave thanks for the bountiful harvest. That was in 1621. However, the first Thanksgiving did not lead to a traditional holiday and certainly not to a national one since the nation didn't exactly exist. It did play a role, however, in what would come. Eventually Thanksgiving began being celebrated more and more as the country grew and people wanted to give thanks. A real American Thanksgiving was first celebrated by the entire country just after the Revolutionary War. But still, it was not a national holiday.

Then, when Abraham Lincoln was in office he declared the last Thursday of November Thanksgiving Day in 1863. That is when it finally became a national holiday. Every president since Lincoln has also declared Thanksgiving a national holiday. Happy Thanksgiving Cardiff Ranch!

HISTORY OF VETERANS DAY

World War I – known at the time as “The Great War” - officially ended when the Treaty of Versailles was signed on June 28, 1919, in the Palace of Versailles outside the town of Versailles, France. However, fighting ceased seven months earlier when an armistice, or temporary cessation of hostilities, between the Allied nations and Germany went into effect on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month. For that reason, November 11, 1918, is generally regarded as the end of “the war to end all wars.”

Cardiff Ranch would like to take a moment to thank each active military and our veterans for your services and sacrifices.

Thank you

KEEP CARDIFF BEAUTIFUL

Helpful tips on how to winterize your yard before the freeze.

Grass Care

Not all lawns will go brown in winter, and there can be many factors which can attribute to a lawn either going brown or staying green over the winter time. But the main reason is that lawns naturally become dormant or semi dormant over winter, and in doing so - some will naturally lose their green color and brown off. Power Feed plant food will feed your lawn and protect during winter months.

Mulch

Though it is often looked upon as a sad time for gardeners, winter is a crucial season for the garden. When you see your favorite plants wilt and die away, remind yourself that it is only during the winter that perennial plants and trees achieve dormancy. Dormancy is critical to the growth process for many plants (like fruit-bearing trees), and surprise warm temperatures mid-winter can inadvertently wake those sleeping plants and trigger new growth just in time for it to be killed off by the next freeze. Winter mulching protects the frozen ground from the thawing effects of the warm winter sun and keeps the soil temperature more constant, which is a good thing for dormant root systems.

Cover Plants

Fall is the best time to get out in the garden and secure your sensitive and tender plants. Protecting plants in winter can help prevent winter scald, frozen roots, foliar damage and even death. Cold weather plant protection takes a little pre-planning and some equipment in harsher zones. In mild and temperate climates, it usually just means re-mulching and dividing peonies and other early spring bloomers.
